

Hello BAHS'ers!

Do you remember the friend who first invited you to sit at his/her table in the school cafeteria when you didn't know a soul in the entire room? Do you remember walks in the Grunewald? Do you remember dances at the AYA - later called the DYA? Do you remember summers at the Volkfest? How about "Curry Wurst and Pommes-Frites"? Away games on the duty train? Rides on the U-Bahn? ...for the gusty, it would be the S-Bahn? Well...if you're like the rest of us, you made a promise to yourself to never forget our "Berlin experience."

This summer, we will help you remember...it's REUNION time!

WHEN: May 23 – 25th, 2003

WHERE: Ramada Plaza Hotel
Asheville, North Carolina

This package will give you the information you need to register.....so read on.

Asheville, North Carolinaa place where the Great Smokies and the Blue Ridge Mountains converge in majestic beauty. Stroll the quaint avenues downtown while surrounded by more art deco from the 20's and 30's than can be found in Miami Beach! An absolute "must" while in Asheville is a visit to the Biltmore Estate, America's largest privately owned residence (the Vanderbilt's). The city is known for its pristine environment, which means the best of outdoor activities. (...read on and you will see we are offering optional tours to both the Biltmore Estate and a steam-engine rail/raft trip) Daytime temperatures in May average 74-75 degrees. In the evenings the temperature can drop to 52 degrees....so be sure to bring lightweight jackets for evening outings. Asheville was chosen by Southern Living magazine's Reader's Choice poll as one of the top mountain destinations for the southeast. Here you will find country roads, courtly homes and the reminders of Thomas Wolfe, who said he couldn't come home again...yet rests here next to his mother.

.....AND THIS WEEKEND IN MAY BERLINERS WILL COME HOME TOO!.....

Getting to Asheville:

Flying? You have options! Several airports....all within a 15 minute to 2 hour drive from our hotel.

The closest is of course "Asheville's Regional Airport" but also consider:

Greenville, SC ~ 73 miles away, Knoxville, TN ~ 115 miles and Charlotte, NC ~ 125 miles.

Over the last couple of years Jeri has always obtained the least expensive ticket by flying into Greenville, SC and driving across the state line. IT'S A BEAUTIFUL DRIVE TO ASHEVILLE OVER ROLLING HILLS!

Charlotte tends to be the most expensive airport. Another option is Winston-Salem, NC, which is 150 miles.

Driving? Interstates 26 and 40 intersect in Asheville make it a convenient day's drive from over half of the United States. If you prefer a more leisurely route, the Blue Ridge Parkway, running from the Smoky Mountain National Park to the Shenandoah National Park, is the perfect scenic drive.

The Ramada is at 435 Smoky Park Highway.....at the intersection of I-40 and Highway 19/23.
