AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOLS OF GERMANY

DEDICATION

To man's faith and belief in the words inscribed on the Freedom Bell,
"That this world, under God,
shall have a new birth of freedom",
we dedicate this record of our school days in Germany.

The opportunity to attend American schools in occupied Germany represents a real challenge to all students. For you are living in an area where one of the greatest transitions in history is taking place. You cannot afford to neglect the responsibility which comes with this opportunity.

You represent an American heritage. The strength of a nation to endure lies in its youth, and the youth of the entire world holds the key to everlasting peace. Your conduct and attainments here in Germany can be a living symbol of our democratic way of life. You can best make this a reality by maintaining your education at the highest possible level.

We believe that 1951 will become the year of decision, that it will represent a peaceful solution to all the world's problems. However, the road to permanent peace is beset with obstacles and fraught with danger. Your contribution as students is to do nothing less than your best.

John J. McCloy
United States High Commissioner

I congratulate the members of the graduating class of 1951. This is a happy occasion for you — happy because it marks successful accomplishment.

From the relatively carefree world of youth, you now take your place in an adult world as men and women with ever increasing responsibilities. You have worked hard and studied diligently under the able direction and guidance of your teachers. I am sure that you are well prepared to assume the added responsibilities which will be yours.

To all students of the American High Schools in the European Command, I extend greetings. You are singularly fortunate in having the opportunity to obtain, at least a part of your education here in Europe. You have the privilege of attending an American school and at the same time observing at first hand through travel and association, the customs and the culture of Western Europe. Your contemporaries in the States may well be envious of your unusual opportunities.

You represent an important segment of American life to the Germans. They observe in you our educational system in action — a system which places no restriction or limitation upon the student by reason of social position, or caste; a system which encourages intelligent inquiry by the student; a system for the training of a democratic citizenry for a democratic country.

Your conduct, your sense of fair-play and tolerance, your interest in the culture and customs of Germany, and your friendliness are all important factors in bringing to the German people a true understanding of the American people and the country we represent. You play an important role in the over-all mission of the Occupation Forces in Germany.

I have mentioned your acquisition of academic knowledge and the peculiar position you occupy here in Germany. Now I would like to go one step farther and give you one particular item of which I would like you to think. These are difficult days, days of decision, days of stress and days of clashing ideologies. I want to urge upon you, under these trying conditions, to give careful attention to staunchly up-holding the high moral standards so firmly established by our pioneer ancestors and maintaining American strength of character. Never were these personal characteristics more greatly needed than in our world today, when there are so many temptations and doctrines which would try to break our people down.

To each of you I extend my best wishes for success in your school work and may you continue to profit by your experiences in Europe.

REPORT OF OPERATIONS

In Retrospect

The Dependents School Service was formally established on May 4, 1946. Its purpose was two-fold: (1) to organize and maintain schools on both the elementary and secondary levels in military communities in Germany, and (2) to supply German educators with a model American school system in action, from which to draw inspiration for the reorganization and democratization of the German educational program.

The first appointee to staff the headquarters unit was Virgil R. Walker, who opened his offices in the Elizabethan School in Frankfurt and gathered around him a staff which included Richard R. Meyering, George W. Orford, and Wilfred G. Clelland, augmented during the next four months by the first Chief of the Division, Colonel James P. Murphy, Lauren S. Buel, Imogene Talcott, Marion Hoch, Anne Smith, and Alfred W. Beerbaum. Major commands and community commanders were informed of their responsibilities in establishing the schools: finding adequate plants and appointing school officers who would serve as a link between the central office and the local military. Funds were made available from non-appropriated funds and from limited tuition fees. Between August and October teachers arrived from the States, all of whom had been carefully selected by Mr. Meyering, and WAC Major Mary S. Bell.

On October 14, 1946, 38 elementary and 5 high schools opened their doors to more than 2000 children from all 48 of the United States. The schools were as American as could be, except that the locale was that of a German community, some of the teaching staff were German nationals, and most of the children elected to study German as a regular school subject. By the end of the school year, kindergartens had been established in five communities and the total enrollment in all schools - kindergarten 108, elementary 2353, and high school 626 - reached 3087. The North Central Association accredited high schools at Berlin, Frankfurt, Heidelberg, Munich, and Nuernberg, and impressive graduation exercises were held for high schools seniors in historic halls and German civic auditoriums.

The second year of operations, 1947-48, showed many changes. Colonel Joseph C. Haw came to Headquarters as Chief of the Dependents School Division replacing Colonel Murphy, who retired. The physical appearance of school plants was greatly improved, better school furniture replaced the make-shift items in classrooms, and newly adopted textbooks and workbooks had arrived from the States in large quantities. The peak enrollment during this year was 4200 in all schools. High schools established in Wiesbaden and in the Bremen Enclave were fully accredited. The DSD program was now financed for the most part from appropriated funds and the teachers were employed under Civil Service contracts.

During the third year, 1948-49, DSD continued to improve and to grow. Peak total enrollment of 5146 was reached. Considerable difficulty was being encountered in getting enough teachers from the States to take care of the steadily increasing enrollment. It is significant that nearly half of the total enrollment was concentrated in kindergarten and the first two grades. However, by this time it was possible to plan more adequately for each succeeding school year on the basis of past experience and Army forecasts on the number of families coming to EUCOM.

The fourth year of operations, 1949-50, was marked by many changes, brought about chiefly by a large increase in enrollment. Now there were 39 kindergartens with a total enrollment of 1274, 57 elementary schools with 5582, and 7 high schools with 891 - a grand total of 7747. In February Colonel Russell F. Albert was announced as the Chief, Dependents School Division, replacing Colonel Joseph C. Haw, who returned to the ZI. Courses of study, developed through the cooperation of the teachers and comparing favorably with the best offered in the States, were published and put into use in all schools. Classroom and office furniture, textbooks, teaching supplies, and playground equipment were becoming modern and up to date. High school athletic teams were contending for conference honors in football, basketball, and baseball just like their contemporaries in the States. Many other normal extra-curricular activities were finding their way into school life. At the close of the school year 145 high school seniors received diplomas and 337 pupils graduated from the elementary schools. Ten of the high school graduates had completed all their high school education in EUCOM.

All this brings us to the present school year, 1950-51, and we are proud of the progress of DSD during these five short years. This year the enrollment - kindergarten 1056, elementary 7120, and high school 997 - shows a grand total of 9173 (January 1, 1951). New elementary schools have been opened in Bonn, in the British Zone, and in Bordeaux, La Rochelle, Orleans, Paris, and Verdun, in France, during the first semester and it seemed likely that more schools would open in France before the end of the school year. Teaching in all DSD schools are some 400 American teachers and 265 German assistants. In spite of the uncertainty of world conditions and the rumors which disturbed but could not stop our studies, we have enjoyed a wonderful year and soon graduation will be here for 190 seniors who will take with them happy memories of school life in Germany. Many and colorful are the incidents that have marked the life and growth of DSD. Five years ago we started from nothing and with our rapid turnover very few students and teachers are able to look back to our beginning. This Annual, our third, is a glowing testimony to the vigor and spirit of the American Schools in Germany. Truly the two-fold purpose for establishing DSD is being achieved. The guiding force behind DSD development has been the Headquarters Staff with offices at Karlsruhe whose pictures appear on pages 8 and 9 of this Annual.

GATEWAY TO FREEDOM

Eunice S. Chute
Superintendent of Schools

The Berlin dependent's school building was originally a well-known German girl's school, the Gertrauden Schule. It first opened its doors to American children in Berlin on September 12, 1946. It was given the name of Thomas A. Roberts to honor one of the first American men to give his life fighting for the city of Berlin, but the school is known to all simply as "TAR".

Of the 1946 staff and enrollment only one person remains, Eunice S. Chute, school superintendent. During her first two years at TAR she taught high school English. Since 1948 Miss Chute has acted as superintendent, which includes the grammar school, junior high, and high school.

The enrollment of the high school has ranged in the five years of the school's history from as high as 107 in 1947—48 to 22 in 1948—49, during the "blockade". This year there are 41 high school students. Each one of them is proud of TAR and hopes that this year a worthwhile page has been added to her history.

SCHOOL BOARD

The School Board of Thomas A. Roberts was first organized in October, 1946. Its main function is to act as a joining link between the school and the Berlin Military Post. The members of the 1950-51 School Board are: Master Sergeant Joseph Balys; Miss Eunice S. Chute; Major Robert H. Overton; Col. S. Sawicki, president; Lt. Col. Robert H. Allen; and Mrs. Harold A. Davenport.

The Parent Teachers Association of TAR acts as a liaison between the school and the parents of the students. It has been very active this year sponsoring the various school activities. Officers of the organization are: Major Roy Creek, president; Mrs. E. V. Smith, vice-president; Mrs. Mary Ellen Riordan, secretary; and Mr. Wilmer Froistad, treasurer.

CLASS OF '51

HISTORY

Seniors at last! For eleven long years we struggled through all the trials and tribulations of school life waiting for our last year of high school to begin. When September 7, 1950 finally rolled along and the doors of TAR opened once more, the Senior Class of 1951 took its place and resolved to make this the best school year of all.

We are the smallest class in Berlin High with only four members; but as far as we're concerned, four is enough. Lou Tandy, who enrolled in September, 1949, was the first member of this class to arrive at TAR. Next came Bud Davenport and Lynne Lawson, who both arrived in January, 1950. Last but not least came Sam Thomson, who enrolled last September. Mr. Kyrios, our home room teacher, has been at TAR since 1948.

We started the year with the election of class officers. Since there were the same number of offices as members, we drew straws for them more or less. They are: Bud, president; Sam, vice-president; Lynne, secretary; and Lou, treasurer.

In early October we had Freshman Initiation. We guided the poor Freshman Class through three horrible days of carrying books and looking like fugitives from a sideshow. Ever since we have been known to them as "the efficacious, omnipotent, omniscient Seniors".

There is not an activity in the school in which the Senior Class is not well represented, from the cheerleading squad and basketball team to the Honor Society. Our main project of the year, aside from graduating in June, has been the annual. The four editors are the four Seniors with Lynne acting as editor-in-chief.

In our resolution to make this year one that will be remembered long after graduation, we think we have succeeded. As we say goodbye to all our classmates and teachers, we take with us the memories of some of the best days of our lives, which were spent in Berlin, Germany in 1950-51.

PROPHECY

Having nothing better to do on this lovely June morning in the year 1961, I decided to take the twenty-five cent afternoon tour to the moon. I dropped my quarter in the slot, went through the turnstile, and boarded the rocket ship. Just as I took my seat, the pilot entered the compartment. I glanced up and found, to my great surprise, that he was the now famous Harold A. Davenport, a member of the 1951 Class at the Thomas A. Roberts High School, who was the first pilot to reach the moon in his own rocket ship. Bud told me that he owes all his success to his jet-prepelled maroon pillow. As we hurtled through space Bud reminisced about his school days in Berlin. He had heard that another member of his class was engaged in some sort of work on the moon, so we were both very anxious to arrive on that planet.

As we finally disembarked, whom should we see but Lou Tandy, busily occupied with passing out doughnuts and coffee to the L. I. 's (Lunar Issue) on the base. Bud and I ran up to get our doughnuts and talk to Lou for the few minutes we had to wait until we boarded the ship for our return trip to Earth. She told us that she was chief hostess and morale booster for the Lunar forces, and invited us into the control tower to observe the space ships landing and taking off. As we entered the tower, we came face to face with a tall officer, whom we recognized as Six-Star General Samuel P. Thomson, the first five-year letterman to graduate from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, who is now in command of our forces on the moon. Close behind him came Captain Lynne Lawson, the first woman graduate of West Point, and General Thomson's aid.

Since we had the four members of the class of '51 together, we decided to have a reunion, over Lou's doughnuts and coffee, while the ship refueled. The five of us, the four members of the class and I, sat around the control tower thinking back to 1950-51, until it was time to start back to Earth. We couldn't waste too much time because I had to get home early to dress for a dinner date on Mars.

JUNIORS

The four remaining members of last year's Sophomore Class, Diann Smith, Jim Bender, Mildred Smith, and Talmadge Gilliam, were very worried when school closed in June, that they again would be the smallest class in TAR come September. As the summer rolled on, things began to look brighter and hopes for a bigger class increased weekly. Don Gray, Laurel Coleman, and Tom Barr were first to join the ranks. Then from Munich and Frankfurt came Ann Worrell and Barbara Harris. Two more Juniors, Don Dryden and Eva Bolyard arrived from the States, bringing the total number to eleven. Don returned to the Z. I. in November, but his place was taken by another newcomer, Jeanne Shettle. Miss Schwerin, Junior homeroom teacher, was also a new addition to TAR this year. The second week of school was a busy one, for it was election time. The class officers chosen were: Ann Worrell, president; Don Gray, vice-president; Diann Smith, secretary and Student Council representative; and Barbara Harris treasurer.

The Juniors take part in many of the school activities. Ann Worrell and Diann Smith are cheerleaders and Jeanne Shettle is president of the G. A. A. Jim Bender, Talmadge Gilliam, Tom Barr, and Don Gray represent the class on the football and basketball teams. Several members also work on the paper and annual staffs. The small size of the class has helped to make it a more closely knit group. The Juniors are looking forward to giving the Junior-Senior Prom in the spring, but they are looking forward even more to the time when they will be TAR's Senior Class.

Last year the Freshman Class was the largest in TAR, but after so many left in the spring and summer, there were doubts about the size of this year's Sophomore Class. However, September found the "Sophs" winning in the size race with twelve students. Ralph Erzold left in the fall, but Bill Garnett returned to keep the number at twelve.

Class elections during September brought these results: Tom Taylor, president; Dennis Dix, vice-president; Judy Lawson, secretary-treasurer; and Henry Steck, Student Council representative.

When the football team was organized, Jim Cobble and Dennis Dix represented the class. These same two, plus Tom Taylor and Henry Steck, are on the basketball squad. The team managers, Bill Garnett and Jimmie Scott, are also "Sophs", and Marlene Morris is a cheerleader. Other Sophomores work on the Bear Facts and Gateway staffs, and serve as officers in the G. A. A. and the S. D. B.

In early December the class gave a very successful basketball dance. It has been a good year, and the "Sophs" are expecting even more fun as Juniors next year.

Thirteen "lowly" Freshmen ventured into their first year of high school at TAR last September. The number lived up to its reputation of being unlucky, for while there were thirteen, they suffered through Freshmen Initiation (which was every bit as bad as expected). The class decreased to twelve members when Bente Jensen returned to Denmark in late October, but the number rose again to thirteen with Bill Daley's arrival in Berlin.

Class officers for the year were elected soon after school began. They are: Darlene Babbitt, president; Mike Nesbit, vice-president; and Bud Crego, secretary-treasurer. Sue Shepard was elected Freshman representative to the Student Council.

In the roll of school activities, the Freshman Class plays its part. Two of the girls, Pat Towers, and Skip Babbitt, are members of the 1950-51 cheerleading squad. Mike Nesbit, George Shepard, and Archie Bolyard played on the football team. Mike and George also are on the basketball team. George Shepard represents the class on the annual staff, and Pat Towers, Sue Shepard, and Betsy Holt work on the paper staff. The class has made a fine beginning in establishing a good record in TAR. They hope this will be continued as they take their place as the Sophomore Class of 1952.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council in Berlin was first organized in 1946 but it has never before been as active as it is this year. Recent accomplishments range from an assembly program to reorganization of lunch lines. Three members of the Student Council attended the EUCOM Student Council Conference in Heidelberg on December 14.

The members of the 1950-51 Student Council are: Senior Lynne Lawson, president; Junior Diann Smith, vice-president; Sophomore Henry Steck; Freshman Sue Shepard, secretary; Mary Lou Moore and Norlane Kellar, Junior High School representatives. Mrs. M. E. Riordan acts as faculty advisor for the organization.

The Berlin Chapter of the National Honor Society was organized at the end of last year when eight TAR students were made members. This year there are only four members, two of which — Lynne Lawson and Lou Tandy — are charter members. The other two, Jeanne Shettle and Sam Thomson, were voted into the society at the end of the first semester in January. It is sponsored by Miss Edna Schwerin. The National Honor Society members hope that in the future it will become a real tradition to the students of Berlin High.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

BEAR FACTS STAFF

Bear Facts, the high school newspaper, first started publications in 1947. The name was derived from a combination of the Berlin symbol and the aim of the original staff for higher journalistic principles of reporting. Since the first issue of Bear Facts, the paper has grown and become a regular tradition in TAR.

This year almost half of the high school students are active on the paper staff as reporter or typists. For the first time in the paper's history a rotating editorship is being used.

With the small enrollment of the school, putting out a paper every two months means a lot of work for everyone involved. However the members of the staff and Mrs. Riordan, faculty advisor, have been willing to work hard and cooperate with each other. They sincerely hope that they have made this year's newspaper better than ever before.

TAR's high school annual, the Gateway, was first started in 1947. The Brandenburg Gate, "the gateway to freedom", was the inspiration for the name. The editors, the four members of the Senior Class — Lynne Lawson, editor-in-chief; Sam Thomson, business manager and feature editor; Lou Tandy, literary editor; and Bud Davenport, art and make-up editor — have been aided in this project by the class editors; Lou Tandy, Senior; Diann Smith, Junior; Judy Lawson, Sophomore; George Shepard, Freshman; and Virginia Peters, Junior High. Under the leadership of faculty advisors, Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton and Miss Margot Pietsch, the staff has published the Gateway of 1951, which will be a record of high school life at TAR.

The 1950-51 cheerleading squad of TAR was chosen in October by representatives of the student body and the faculty. The girls chosen were: Lou Tandy, head cheerleader; Skippy Babbitt; Marlene Morris; Diann Smith; Pat Towers; and Ann Worrell. All six girls have proven capable of arousing pep and enthusiasm during both football and basketball games. The cheerleaders made a very snappy appearance during basketball season in their new uniforms; maroon skirts and white sweaters trimmed with the Berlin bear. Hard work and lots of practice, under the able guidance of Mrs. Riordan, have enabled them to work up many new and dynamic cheers.

The first football team in TAR's history battled their way to cop second place honors in the EUCOM six man football conference this year. The "Cubs" played four conference games against Heidelberg and Wiesbaden, and one non-conference game against Bremerhaven. They won two games, tied one, and lost two, despite the injury of first string quarterback, Bud Davenport. Due to the consistent playing of backs, Jim Bender and Sam Thomson, supported by a hard charging line, made up of Mike Nesbit, Don Gray, and Talmadge Gilliam, the team came through with a good season.

BASKETBALL

The Berlin Cubs Basketball Team of 1951 and Coach Alexander H. Kyrios, relying heavily on hard work and consistent practice, began the season with one win and one loss. They then hit the road for two straight weeks to play in the zone. After dropping two, the team ended the trips with a win over Nurnberg. Even with the losses, the remainder of the season looks bright for the "Cubs".

TEEN CANTEEN

The Berlin Teen Canteen came to its present home at 45 Garystrasse in August, 1949. When school started this year, the Canteen had begun to show signs of hard wear, and in October it was completely remodeled and furnished with a new piano, a juke box, and a snack bar.

With Mrs. Ruth Babbitt as the capable Canteen mother, the club has given a number of very enjoyable parties. Included in these were the reception for the re-opening of the Canteen, suppers, hayrides, and a party for British and French teenagers. Every one of the forty members feels that the Canteen has functioned very successfully this year.

The officers of the club for the first semester were: Lynne Lawson, president; Bud Davenport, vice-president, Ann Worrell, secretary-treasurer; and Bill Garnett, sergeant-at-arms. Second semester officers are: Bud Davenport, president; Bill Garnett, vice-president; Lou Tandy, secretary-treasurer; and Jim Bender, sergeant-at-arms.

The girl's club of Berlin, Sigma Delta Beta, came into being on December 13, 1949, with thirteen members - all the high school girls of TAR. Mrs. Hamilton and Mr. Kyrios were asked to be club sponsors. Since only eight members were left when school started this year, it was necessary to hold an initiation and make some changes in the club before it could get back on its feet. After the constitution had been revised and nine new members initiated, S. D. B. really got going. The first anniversary of the club was celebrated in December with a formal dance at the home of Nancy Leone. Sigma Delta Beta's present officers are: Lynne Lawson, president; Lou Tandy, vice-president and pledge captain; Judy Lawson, secretary; Jeanne Hay, treasurer; and Nancy Leone, historian.

SIGMA DELTA BETA

A large, stylized black outline of a hand is positioned on the right side of the page, holding a dark, rounded rectangular sign. The sign contains the word "FAREWELL" in white, bold, sans-serif capital letters.

FAREWELL

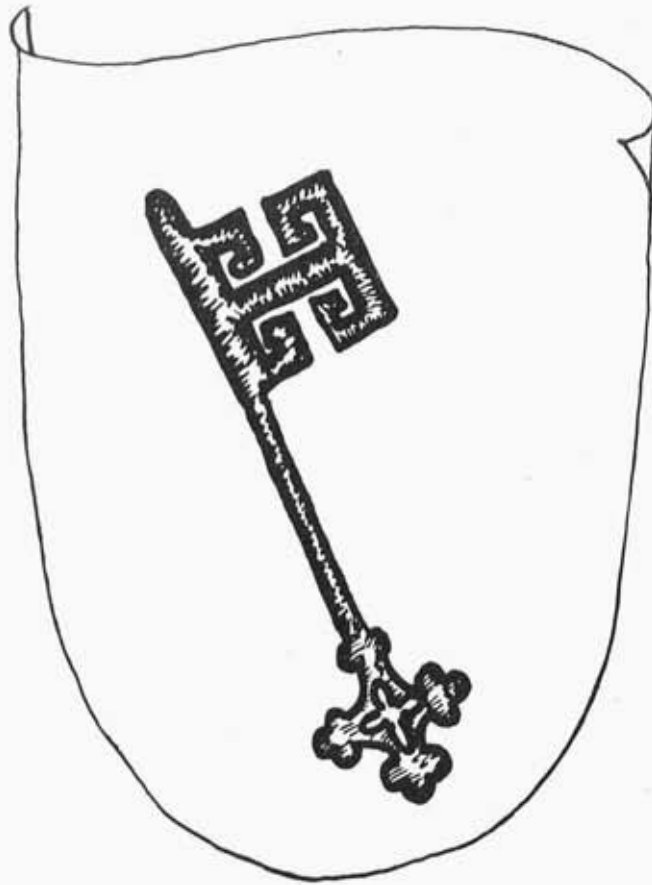

We, the Seniors of 1951, upon leaving our high school careers behind us, wish to express our appreciation to all those who have helped us in our high school days. We are deeply grateful to Miss Chute, the entire faculty and administrative staff, and our parents, who have given us much support in all our activities.

We certainly hope that the future Seniors of TAR, upon graduation will have as many pleasant memories of their school years in Berlin as we have.

A stylized black graphic of a building or structure, possibly a school building, is positioned above the word "BERLIN". It consists of several horizontal bars of varying lengths, creating a silhouette of a building with a flat roof and some internal structure.

THE AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL IN BREMERHAVEN

June 1951 marks the completion of the fourth year for an American High School in the Bremen Enclave. In the year 1947-48 the Bremen Enclave Dependents' High School occupied quarters at 15 Kurfuersten Allee in Bremen. Bremerhaven students commuted daily to Bremen. In the summer of 1948 the high school moved to its present quarters in Lehe Barracks, Bremerhaven, and the commuting situation was reversed. Bremen students now did the traveling or lived with friends in Bremerhaven. During the year 1948-49 the first Student Council was organized, the first annual play staged, and the Eucom championship basketball team was produced.

Mr. Harry K. Heiges, our present superintendent, was principal for 1949-50. Participation in an International Unesco Conference in Bremen, International Relations panel discussion in Heidelberg, and playing host to the Northern Regional Track Meet were major events of that year.

A new name, American School in Bremerhaven; decreased enrollment, an average of 25 students; and a new principal, Miss Ysobel Wright, mark the year 1950-51. Our student body is too small this year to make any outstanding records, but we have produced a Christmas program, and participated in an interscholastic panel discussion, athletics events, and girls' playdays. We feel that this year has been a very successful one and that we have all profited by the benefits afforded us in being members of such a small student body.

SENIORS

Senior Class History

The history of the present senior class of Bremerhaven High began in December 1949 when Dolores Cowles joined the junior class, then consisting of six members. Gillian Letchworth came in January 1950, and in February, Geraldine Parrino transferred from Munich, bringing the enrollment up to its peak of nine members. In September 1950, these three girls came back to make up the senior class, along with Sue Hitchcock, president; secretary, Geraldine Parrino; treasurer, Gillian Letchworth; and Dolores Cowles, class representative. Sue Hitchcock, president; and Dolores Cowles, class representative. The senior class has proved that we are not the "weaker sex." Geraldine edited the "Keyhole," our school paper, and the most important departments were headed by seniors. The production of the Annual rested in the hands of a senior class editor and president in Drama, Chorus, and Girls' Athletic Association, whose discussion in Frankfurt. All the girls had parts in the Christmas panel play, and Jill spoke for Bremerhaven at the interscholastic panel discussion in Frankfurt. Though all seniors everywhere feel they gain something special from their last year, we, the Class of 1951, Bremerhaven High, believe we have enriched our lives more fully from the opportunities which our intimate class has afforded us, and from our experience of living in Germany.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

The calendar registers the year 1956 and the action takes place in a waiting room at Grand Central Station, New York. Looking around the crowded room your reporter is very surprised to see the four members of the Bremerhaven Class of '51. Dolores Cowles, who is now an efficient secretary, is waiting for the train for Hartford, Conn. She has been in New York visiting one of the members of the graduating class of '50, who incidentally is now a Naval lieutenant. Jill Letchworth has just returned to the States from Bremerhaven where she has been occupying her time as a nurse in the 319th Station Hospital, and is now on her way to a very successful, and is now on her way to the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. Jerry Parrino is in New York to cover an exclusive story "The Times Picayune", of which she is the society editor. Last but not least, our reporter sees Sue Hitchcock, our former student body president, sitting over in the corner. She has made her mark by becoming the owner of a very successful employment agency. Over the loudspeaker I hear the announcement of the arrival of my train so I must leave this good company until another time.

CLASS WILL

I, Gillian Letchworth, do will my ability to say the wrong thing at the wrong time to Ann Lord and my accent to Lois Lingner.

I, Dolores Cowles, do will my quiet manner to "Spike" Barr and my long hair to Sylvia Nixon.

I, Sue Hitchcock, do will my winsome smile to Helen Conner and my basketball ability to next year's class.

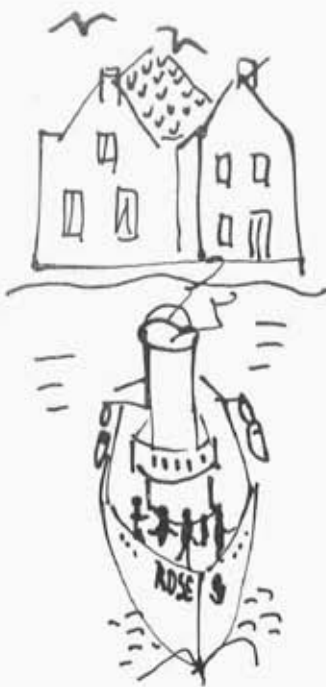

I, Gerry Parrino, do will my height to Donna Heine and my numerous school offices to Albert Vermette.

Collectively we have no will to have this happy year at Bremerhaven over with.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Well, everyone, last year's sophomore class is now the junior class! The feeling is out of this world!

Since we're up in the clouds, let's take a look below and see just who's in the junior class in 1950. On a pink-edged cloud below me I see Maxine Walters, a small dark-haired, brown-eyed lass who hails from California. She's the brains of our small four-cloud class. Just floating by is a blue-ridged cloud containing a hazel-eyed, blonde girl from the show-me state, Missouri, who has recently found many good qualities in the state of Virginia! In case you haven't guessed by now, it's Norma Smith. Another cloud is drifting close by and it's holding Pat Hewitt — a black-haired, brown-eyed filly from the state of Washington. Pat's good in dramatics and also our popular president. And last but not least, on a small dark cloud we see the funnyman of school. He gets the second highest grades, is vice-president, and is always in trouble. Uh-huh!! Gus Seligmann. Dear Gus, at least he isn't pulverizing any mice this year.

Well, a wind is coming up, and it's blowing us closer and closer to the entrance of the senior class. Please look us up again next year when we're the MIGHTY SENIORS!!!

SOPHOMORES

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

Dear Barbara,

I've meant to write you for some time, but with so many things to do, I just didn't find the time. Here it is almost Christmas and I still have not told you what a wonderful feeling it is to be a sophomore. I almost thought I was doomed to carry the title "freshman" through life.

Our class, better known as "Schwerin's Hothouse Flowers," consists of a grand total of five members. The requirements for membership are two typhoid shots and a birth certificate. The inmates are as follows: Bob Payette hailing from Minnesota, Ann Lord and Phil Parrino claiming Louisiana, Lois Lingner from Georgia, Helen Conner from South Carolina. As you have probably guessed by now, Miss Schwerin is Head Warden but is still liked by everyone.

After a struggle we finally elected officers. Bob is our President, Phil our Vice-president, and Lois our Secretary-treasurer. Ann is Secretary-treasurer of the Student Council, and Helen is a very active member of the German-American Club. Bob and Ann combine forces to represent us in the Student Council.

We were all sorry to lose Jeff Giles, one of our honor roll students, who departed for Washington, D.C., in October.

All of us belong to school clubs such as the camera, drama, and home-making clubs. Through the halls of B.H.S. can be heard the echoes of knitting needles or camera shutters, not mentioning numerous quotations from Shakespeare.

Whoops, Miss Schwerin just came into the room and there goes the bell! I guess I'd better stop writing now.
Hope to see you soon.

Your friend,
"Liz"

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

We are very proud of the fact that our Freshman Class this year is the largest at Bremerhaven High. There are fifteen of us in all: four are new from the Bremen eighth grade; and six, from last year's class.

After initiation we elected as class officers: Jack Platt, president; Sylvia Nixon, vice president; and Danny Pickett, secretary-treasurer. Jeannine Vermette and "Spike" Barr were elected to the posts of student council representatives.

Freshman participation in sports has been very high this year because we seem to be the only athletes in the school! The Blackhawks' cheerleaders are all Freshman girls.

The first-year English class has contributed to school assemblies with the production of a radio play, "Robin of Locksley". A science assembly is planned for later in the year.

Our members have been active in all the school clubs, and on the Annual and Keyhole staffs. We've participated in such school activities as a field trip to Oldenburg in the British Zone, and girls' playday. We of the freshman class of Bremerhaven feel that this has been a successful year and that it has been a happy beginning to our high school career.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

Out of the noise, heated discussion, and clamor of the opening of school arose the Student Council for the year 1950-51. Those who survived the election were Sue Hitchcock, president; Gus Seligmann, vice-president; and Ann Lord, secretary-treasurer.

Freshman initiation was turned over to the Seniors. The Hallowe'en party was planned and carried out by the freshmen. The formal Christmas dance held December 18 at the "Four or More Club" was sponsored by the Council and capably managed by Norma Smith. In addition to establishing a "Lost and Found" bureau, the Council planned a point system which enables students to earn awards in activities other than athletics.

FRANKSUR

AMERICAN STUDENTS IN GERMANY

We seniors who have attended school in Germany have, needless to say, found our life here quite different from what we knew back in Home Town, U. S. A. Although our everyday activities center around the American community, and we absorb as many, if not more, sodas at the local snack bar as the typical high school crowd at home, there are unmistakable differences between us.

To name one, we are almost universally afflicted with the "wanderlust". During school vacations, or even on weekends, you may expect to find students anywhere in Germany or the rest of western Europe. Paris, Rome, Brussels, Stockholm, Vienna, and Amsterdam — all have felt the tread of teenage sightseers and heard the clicks of their cameras. We have climbed the Eiffel Tower, drifted in Venetian gondolas, skied in the Alps, and taken in the age-old beauties of the European countryside. Without a doubt, we have learned infinitely more from our trips than from the best geography book ever written.

But even more important than these glimpses of the past glories of Old World culture is the closer look we have obtained at European and, in particular, German problems of today. Living where we do — literally among the ruins of the war — we cannot help but remember what is past and realize the importance of learning to understand those whose ways of living differ from ours. Not only have we observed the customs and habits of the people of this country, but we have also had the opportunity to talk with them and find out their viewpoints on the ever-shifting situations in the world today.

Our school itself has reflected a good many changing world conditions since it was built two decades ago. Originally called the Dietrich Eckhart Schule, this modern, many-windowed building was meant to be an experimental school for new educational methods, but in Hitler's day it was taken over for the indoctrination of Nazi youth. In 1947 the building, which had served during the war as a hospital, an officer's training school, and a warehouse, became an American high school. So Frankfurt High School now fulfills its original purpose, in a sense, for it has been open to visiting German educators as a model of American secondary education.

In this yearbook we have attempted not only to show our life at school, but also to give a picture of our distinctive life here so that in future years we will be able to remember what it meant to be an American student in Germany.

To the Parent Teachers Association we owe our gratitude for their sincere interest in our activities throughout the year. They not only gave us their moral support but also backed us financially through the AYA by sponsoring parties and assemblies. Especially memorable was the colorful Halloween costume ball, at which prizes were presented for dance contests and for the most original costumes.

Special thanks go to Mrs. G. T. Stump, president, and Mrs. Fitzgerald, AYA chairman, for their part in the planning of the year's activities.

Seniors

Senior History

Now that we are alumni of Frankfurt High School, we have the opportunity, not only to look over our senior year, but also to glance back over our years as underclassmen. How lost we felt as we entered high school as freshmen, and how much more sophisticated we acted when we became knowing sophomores. The junior year brought us nearer to our goal and served as an apprenticeship for the varied activities of that most important year of all. Finally the long-awaited day arrived when we slipped up to take the places of the departing graduates and were worldly seniors at last!

When THE YEAR began, after what seemed a longer vacation than usual, it brought the usual cries of "All Hail, Macbeth", which soon gave way to the writing of senior themes. Class meetings were begun under the capable leadership of our elected officers--Guy Bradshaw, president; Bill Scott, vice-president; Bob Merikangas, secretary; and Mary Jo Sorenson, treasurer. An exciting week of campaign posters, speeches, and promises culminated in the election of Ralph Miles as president of the Student Council. Bob Merikangas was chosen to edit the annual with the help of his senior staff, and Lynn Conk initiated many improvements as editor of the school paper, "The Eagle's Echo".

Halloween gave us the opportunity to let down our senior dignity and don masquerade costumes for the gala Costume Ball. We soon changed to our "bests" again when December brought the Christmas Formal. On February fourteenth hearts and flowers predominated as we crowned the King and Queen of Hearts at the Valentine Dance. Spring brought with it invitations to the memorable Junior-Senior Prom, long a highlight of a senior's year.

Almost before we realized it, May became June, and in spite of the weariness of last minute cramming, and the suspense of final examinations, the great day arrived when we were graduated from high school and we stepped out into the uncertainties of life.

Now that we look back on it all, it seems such a short time ago that we were walking down the halls calling to our friends, rushing to classes, attending meetings, or planning a party. The tests and the homework seem to fade into insignificance now, as we think only of the many friends we had... Remember?

TIME — 1961

PLACE — NEW YORK, LA GUARDIA AIR PORT

Today, citizens of the United States witnessed the first non-stop round-the-world flight of the new giant strato-cruiser, "The Golden Eagle". People from all over the world gathered at La Guardia Airport to watch the christening and departure at ten o'clock this morning. Present at the ceremonies to launch the airship were the President of the United States, D. Paul Foote; New York City's mayor, Joseph "Amigo" O'Malley; and the famous opera star, Bettye Bryant, who christened the ship. President Foote said in his speech, "This flight will include people from all walks of life, including chemists, secretaries, professionals, and housewives. It will be representative of all the United States, besides being of extreme importance to the world." Later the designer of the plane, Frank Peter Bostrom, was awarded the Nobel prize for science this year. At exactly 11:03 the plane taxied down the runway and rose majestically in the air. Both our reporter, Lynn Conk, and an interviewer were present, and the rest is an on-the-spot account of the trip.

"The first group we met was talking over the cruise in very scientific terms. They introduced themselves as Ralph Miles, nuclear physicist; Richard Zwicker, the President's physician; Bob Merikangas, successful businessman, and his secretary, Kay Lawrence. Farther down the aisle, a housewife, Lou Livingston told us she was extremely nervous and was glad that her husband was with her. Noticing a group of army officials, we walked over to ask their opinion of the trip. Colonels Russell Christianson and Charles Meng were talking over their West Point days but told us they were enjoying the trip immensely. Captains Floyd Rewey and Dave Person of the Navy said they were on the trip for highly confidential reasons. Also represented in this group was a member of the Merchant Marine, Chief Warrant Officer Oliver Hall. At this moment the airline hostess, Shirley Bostrom, asked us whether we were comfortable and had everything we needed. Moving on, we saw a group of young women discussing the interior of the plane. Margaret Kuhlman, owner of an exclusive dress shop, and her model Carol Sue Chamberlain, said they had been invited for publicity reasons. Also with them were interior decorators Mary Jo Sorenson and Diane MacCoy. Both had planned the various lounges of the "Eagle". Noted Pulitzer Prize winner, Margaret Boerner, was working on her latest novel, "The Hard Luck Kid", but took time off to tell us how much she was enjoying the trip. Nearing the front, we decided to enter the cockpit and talk with the pilots, Bob Norling and Gilroy Arbour. Both expressed gratitude at being chosen outstanding pilots of the year.

"Leaving the cockpit, we noticed a bulletin board with an announcement of famous entertainers on the second deck. As we climbed the stairs we ran into another hostess, Jean Howard and a steward, Stan Lewark. Both hoped to make more flights on this new ship. On the second deck we went in to another compartment to interview the entertainers. Karen Pickering, torch singer from the "51" Club, and Bill Hartnett, one of the top male vocalists, were practicing a duet for a new record they intended to put out. The famous Shakespearian actor, David Charles Toft, was studying for his next part in "Macbeth". Sir Toft told us he felt very much honored to be invited on the trip. With him was Tony Baker, owner of the new dance school, and one of his dance instructors, Loretta Stinson. Mr. Baker said the flight was so smooth he could even give lessons in the air. Bobby Benson, boy cowboy, was going over his latest song hit, "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer". The suave movie star, William "Casanova" Venditti, was busy signing autographs. In another compartment some of the most famous commercial artists in the United States were busily sketching away. Bill Deverell and John Howard were working on the murals in the new UN building. Miss Kay Reedy, famed "Kay of Hollywood", was working on some of her world renowned original dress designs.

"Looking farther down the aisle, we noticed among the passengers several people in the sports world. Jim Skaggs, Dallas football coach, was talking to a neighbor of his, Wanda Denton, who owns one of the largest ranches in Texas. Accompanying Miss Denton was her secretary, Betty Neuweiler. Guy Bradshaw, star professional basketball player on the Fort Knox Knickerbockers, was looking a little pale; Doug Shelton, though, said he felt fine and would like to take a trip before every World's Series because it made him relax. Deciding to enter the crew's quarters next, we met Dave Agniel, head of the Frankfurt Shipping Lines, who had come along personally to make sure everything was in order. Talking to him was the electrical engineer, Jim Keller. Mr. Keller said keeping everything working on this plane was an engineer's dream. Miss Ann Hollida, nurse on the flight, was very much excited and told us that this was the most wonderful assignment of her career. From the navigator, Carl Maucieri, we found out that the plane was exactly on schedule. We couldn't talk to the radio operator, Jackye Ringgold because she was too busy taking congratulatory messages.

"Returning to the passengers we found Richard Wilson, photographer of the famous Eagle's Echo, busily taking pictures of the noted historian, William Cagle. Mr. Cagle was dictating notes to his secretary, Nadene Bradshaw. Sitting near him we recognized Bill Rice, President of the Tennessee Agricultural Association. Madame Peg Preston, recently back from a fashion tour of Paris, said the flight was giving her "magnifique" ideas for clothes. Donna Weaver, whose ceramics were awarded a showing in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, was accompanied by Karin Weigert, whose latest novel will be published in June. Talking to them was the Big East Coast Chain Drugstore owner, William Scott. Suddenly we became aware of a flurry of excitement among the passengers; and when we hurried to a window we discovered the cause. A huge electric sign below told us that we were now over Frankfurt, Germany..."

Will
We, the Seniors, being of sound mind and body, do, this year of 1951, bequeath the following:

Peg Boerner leaves her giddiness to some somber sophomore.
Shirley Bostrom leaves her presidencies to any ambitious junior.
Nadene Bradshaw leaves her shyness to Dick Markham.
Bertye Jean Bryant leaves her democratic ticket to Connie Crawford.
Carol Sue Chamberlain leaves her Rose Murphy records to Bill Holland.
Lynn Conk leaves her wit to the editor of next year's paper.
Wanda Denton leaves her dancing ability to all junior boys.
Ann Hollida leaves her southern accent to Carl Sullinger.
Jean Howard leaves her sober personality to any flighty freshman.
Marge Kuhlman leaves her flirtatious ways to next year's freshman.
Kay Lawrence leaves her position as newspaper typist to Karen Weaver.
Lou Livingston leaves her friendly personality to anyone who needs it.
Diane MacCoy leaves her art talent to the art classes.
Betty Lou Neuweiler leaves a worn English book to Mike Boerner.
Karen Pickering leaves her blonde hair to Joe Jenike.
Peggy Preston leaves her big, black eyes to Dick Person.
Kay Reedy leaves her letter sweater to the football team.
Jackye Ringgold leaves her history homework to any lazy junior.
Loretta Stinson leaves her long bus ride to Sara Hart.
Mary Jo Sorenson leaves, cheering.
Donna Weaver leaves a pack of Dentyne and an I.O.U. to Miss Kramer.
David Agniel leaves a lot of friends.
Gilroy Arbour leaves, laughing.
Tony Baker leaves his British accent to Ted Coleman.
Pete Bostrom leaves his excuses to anyone foolish enough to use them.
Guy Bradshaw leaves his gavel to next year's class president.
Bill Cagle leaves his admiration for the Scots to the Englishmen.
Russel Christianson leaves his position as manager of the 18th Infantry Vans to Chuck Stuart.
Bill Deverell leaves his quiet ways to Debbie Shirley.
Paul Foote leaves for the Presidency.
Oliver Hall leaves, with relief.
Bill Hartnett leaves his Nurnberg memories to Carol Pullis.
John Howard leaves his pipe to anyone who thinks he can get away with it.
Jim Keller leaves his pajamas to the dorm.
Stan Lewark leaves his government book reports to Bob Buffington.
Carl Maucieri leaves his witticisms to future students of Mr. Wiksten.
Charles Meng leaves his three day German class to anyone who thinks he can work it.
Ralph Miles leaves his fan club to George O'Grady.
Bob Norling leaves his reserve to Phyllis Cabe.
Joe O'Malley leaves his knowledge of politics to any other Jacobite.
Dave Person leaves his quarterback position to Paul Tempske.
Floyd Rewey leaves, for real!
Bill Rice leaves before he's called back.
Bill Scott leaves his basketball position to Wally Lund.
Doug Shelton leaves his moustache to Coach Shugart.
Jim Skaggs leaves his troubles to Carol Cahalan.
Dave Toft leaves his height to Jerry Harrison.
Bill Venditti leaves his pins to their owners.
Dick Zwicker leaves his German to the German classes.
Bob Merikangas leaves his straight A's to Fred Maye.
Dick Wilson leaves his camera to next year's annual staff.
And WE leave with many happy memories behind us.

It was back in the school year 1950-51, remember? The century was a little past the halfway mark, and so was our high school career, for we were juniors that year. That was an unsettled time; the world outlook was generally upset, and we were in Frankfurt am Main, Deutschland - not the usual place to be a junior in an American high school. Yet it didn't seem strange then. In fact, it was somewhat of a commonplace year for us, for all the ordinary things happened to us, just as if there were some somewhere labeled: "Junior Year of High School".

At the beginning, there was that pleasant feeling of superiority when we first realized that we were upperclassmen and entitled to a few privileges of rank, such as they were. The freshmen looked even tinier than they had last year, and we looked at them pityingly when we thought that some day in the distant future they would be suffering under as big a load of homework as ours.

We elected our class officers and student council representatives, and the year settled into its ordinary pattern. Like countless other juniors in the past and yet to come, we were introduced to Hepzibah Pyncheon and followed her gloomy passage through the House of Seven Gables, and supposedly learned how to tell the Monroe Doctrine from the Gettysburg Address.

We learned the humiliation of losing by one thin point to the seniors in the inter-class basketball tournament, and to comfort our loss with the thought of the money we made by sponsoring it. Remember those endless meetings when we wracked our brains trying to think of get-rich-quick schemes? And finally, in spite of all our doubts and committees and reports from the treasurer, we had the Junior-Senior Prom that spring, and a very good one it was, too.

Before we realized it, June had come and our nine months as juniors were over, once and for all. It was only an ordinary year of high school, but there was something special about being a junior in the school year 1950-1951 at Frankfurt High in Germany; for it had come to us only once and could never come again!

SOPHOMORES

The class of 1950 boasted a number of contributions to every organization in school. Many of the boys were on the football, basketball, and baseball teams. Representing our class in two important school-wide organizations were Carol Lind, secretary of the Student Council, and Barbara Katz, cheerleader. By far the largest class in the school, we elected Barry Wiksten as president; Ted Robinette, vice-president; Carol Lind, secretary; and Paul Tempske, treasurer. In spite of a heavy schedule of classes, we gave our enthusiastic support to all games, assemblies, dances, and other school affairs.

FRESHMEN

As the class of 1954, we began this year with much excitement, bewilderment, and expectation. One of our first jobs was to elect our class officers - Mike Flannery, president; Julian Stevenson, vice-president; Jean Zwicker, treasurer; and Janice Latimer, secretary. We felt honored to have our class represented by Jo Ann Burbidge and Ardis Saltino as cheerleaders. The freshmen class has made its mark in all athletic activities, showing much promise for the future.

We have not forgotten other activities, for much hard work and effort have been put forth in the Dramatic Club, Eagle's Echo, and Student Council.

Scholastically, we freshmen have not been remiss, for in spite of the newness of high school routines and schedules, many of us have regularly made the honor roll.

With this, the first chapter of our high school life behind us, we face the future with bright hopes.

After the excitement of campaign posters, speeches, and elections, the Student Council plunged into the school year with much enthusiasm. The Council is a small group consisting of the class presidents, two representatives from each class, and the Council officers. Chosen in the school-wide election to lead the group were Ralph Miles, president; Bill Cagle, vice-president; Carol Lind, secretary, and Harry DeVore, treasurer. Mr. Wiksten is the faculty adviser.

Through our Student Council, the faculty and students work together closely and efficiently on mutual problems. The Council is very active in sponsoring extra-curricular activities, and the assembly committee provides many interesting noontime programs. Three of the officers went to Heidelberg to participate in the inter-school student council meeting in December. The members of the student council enjoy their work and are proud of their achievements.

This year a great deal of hidden talent was brought into the open when, under the baton of Miss Barker, a band was begun. The whole school was pleasantly surprised when they livened up the first game with several peppy selections. Throughout the year the band appeared at assemblies and at football and basketball games. In the spring, newly purchased uniforms helped make their appearance as snappy as their music.

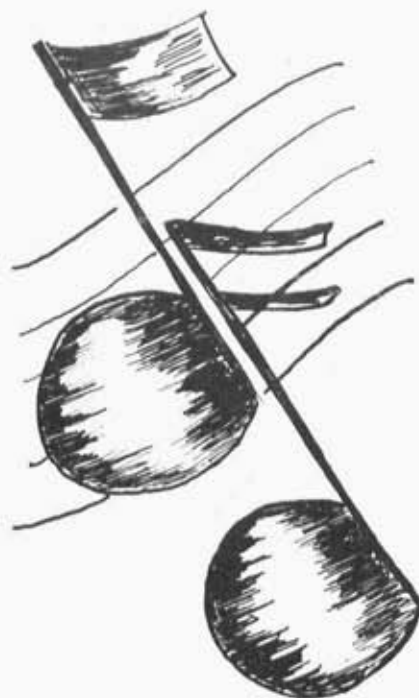

There's music in the air

First row: Sally Brown, Joyce Dixon, Anita Devlin, Barbara Santera, Josephine Porcaro, Claudette Devine, Carolyn Millican, Jean Hahn, Marilyn Torgerson, Nancy Clark, Joan Jakich, Mae Carol Hately, Carol Sullivan, Carolyn Cahalan, Ann Stevens

The choir, under the direction of Miss Barker, certainly helped to make this school year both musical and entertaining. With the assistance of the band, they contributed to assemblies and taught the rest of the school various pep songs. At Thanksgiving, the choir performed for the Parent Teachers Association and at Christmas time they joined with the dramatic club to put on an exceptionally beautiful program.

The show goes on

First row: Phyllis Cabe, Ruth Hansen, Anita Quesnot, Carol Sue Chamberlain, Barbara Katz, Deborah Shirley, La Nedra Rushing, Barbara Eaves, Joan Castle, Natalie Weisler

Third row: Chris Cagle, Denver Garner, Shirley Williams, Joan Davenport, Lou Livingston, Anita Devlin, Laurine Foreman, Barbara Santos, Lorraine Lewis, John Woods, Cathy Carolan, Richard Markham

"Rain, snow, sleet, or fog, the show must go on" was the motto of the Dramatic Club when it was rehearsing for "Why the Chimes Rang". Together with the choir they produced a very effective and successful Christmas program. During the year they are kept busy in various dramatic activities, especially in rehearsal of one act plays, some of which they hope to exchange with other schools.

Analytic geometry, calculus, spherical trigonometry! You may think these subjects are beyond high school level, but once a week Mr. Altschuler explains these fields of mathematics to interested members of the intermediate and advanced algebra classes. This select group gladly give up one lunch period a week to pursue the finer points of a fascinating subject.

The Chess Club consists of a group of boys who get together twice a week to play this popular international game. Under Mr. Altschuler's supervision they plan intramural tournaments and competition with outside players.

The Pep Club was organized by a group of girls, sponsored by Miss Pierson, to put on pep assemblies and to organize cheering at games. Honorary members of this very lively organization were the Cheerleaders, and together, the two groups did a great deal to arouse Frankfurt's school spirit.

This is a common cry on Monday afternoons when the members of the Frankfurt swimming club engage in their favorite sport at the Fedenheim indoor pool.

Miss Pierson is the sponsor of this very energetic and wet group. While playing at their favorite sport, they not only have fun but improve their swimming skills. Who knows? Perhaps these enthusiasts will someday form the nucleus of a future Frankfurt High School swimming team.

When our new gym teacher, Miss Pierson, came to us this year, she brought with her several new ideas in organizing girls sports. One of these ideas was to elect officers in each gym class and representatives from each grade to make up a Girl's Athletic Association. This council planned many athletic events, among them the girls' play days, ice-skating, swimming, and after school basketball games.

"The team's in a huddle, the captain lowers his head", was the cry from the stands as co-captains Ronnie Ballinger and Dave Person prepared to lead the team against our first opponent, Linz. The Frankfurt team showed excellent form as they crashed through the lines again and again to make the final score 27-0. The Nurnberg game followed and Frankfurt High School fans crossed their fingers until news of victory came.

Finally the day for the big game arrived. Late in October we met Munich on our home field in a flurry of snow. But this time, as hard as we tried, we could not quite cope with Munich's backfield, and that evening was very quiet in Frankfurt.

Our last game was the annual tug of war with Heidelberg. The whole school followed the team in pouring rain and freezing cold. Although thick mud covered the players and made it impossible to recognize our boys or, at times, the team. Frankfurt grandstanders knew when we carried the ball over to score. The rest of the game was a struggle with mud, but both the team and the Frankfurt fans rejoiced when the final whistle blew.

Our football season ended with Frankfurt in second place, and we are all proud of the success of our team and coach.

BASKETBALL

*First row: Gilroy Arbour, Ted Coleman, Doug Shelton, Wally Lund
Second row: Bill Cagle, manager; Dave Toft, Keith Walters, Bill Scott, co-captain
Guy Bradshaw, co-captain; Ronnie Ballinger, Mr. Shugart, coach
Third row: Joe Jenike, Jim Skaggs, Jesse Dale, John Griffin*

Basketball, probably the favorite sport at Frankfurt High, opened its season with a brand new quintet. The "Eagles" hit it off together from the start, and with the exceptionally good backing of the cheering section, they gave their opponents some of the "Frankfurt treatment". F. H. S. fans backed their team enthusiastically, from the excitement of their victories to the disappointment of their losses.

In the guard positions were Bill Scott and Guy Bradshaw, co-captains, while Dave Toft played center and Ronnie Ballinger and Keith Walters were in the forward position. Bill Cagle, manager, appeared at every game with his assistant, George O'Grady.

The suspense of tense moments and the elation of hard-won victories provided us with a season of outstanding basketball, climaxed by spirited annual EUCOM-wide tournament, in which the "Eagles" won first place.

DORMITORY COUNCIL

If you've never visited a dormitory before, you should stop by 55 Wiesenau Strasse one evening - provided it's not Wednesday evening - and look in on the Frankfurt Girls' Dormitory. This year the girls have really organized, with the help of Miss Taylor, to make their dorm a "home away from home". Joan Sheckels is the president of the newly formed dormitory council and Marcia Goodloe is secretary-treasurer. To help them plan activities, representatives from each class were chosen.

In the evenings you may see the girls doing homework at the study tables or enjoying the recreation where they may play ping-pong and various other games. After the study hour is over, snacks are served before bedtime. On special holidays, parties are held, one of the most memorable of which was given at Christmas.

On Wednesday evenings dorm students are free to do as they choose, but here again, entertainment such as ice skating and swimming is provided.

Living in the dorm gives the girls a chance to learn how to get along with others and to make friends they will long remember.

DORMITORY COUNCIL

As we, the departing seniors look back on dorm days, we will think of all the good times we had. At first glance, having only Wednesday nights free and ten o'clock "lights out" seemed a bit restricting. But now, as we look back, we are amazed at our varied activities.

Coming back this year, we found a wonderful new dorm and dorm counselor awaiting us. Through Miss Chamberlain (what a surprise to find our new dorm supervisor a woman!) we got a snack bar and set up some ping-pong tables. For the first time, we also elected a dorm council. Ralph Miles was chosen president; Douglas Torgerson, vice-president; and Jim Keller, secretary-treasurer. Two representatives from each class were also elected to assist the council. Living with boys from various states and countries, certainly has been a memorable experience for us all, and we will never forget the many friends we made.

TRAVELOGUE

After the school doors are closed for the summer and on the various holidays, American students here in Germany spread out to visit all parts of the world including our homeland.

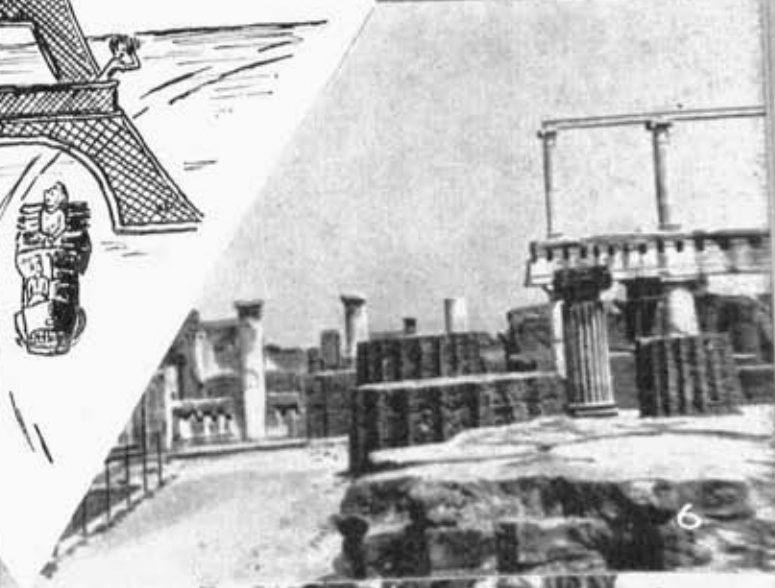

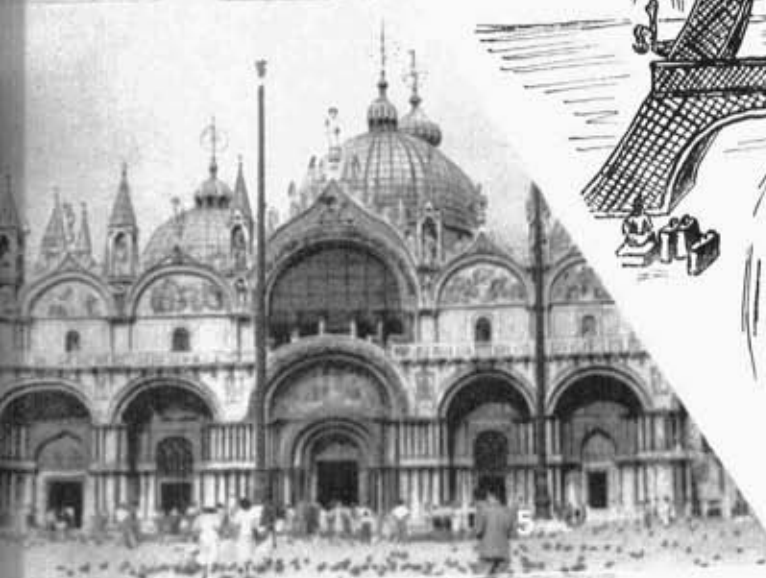

Some of the fortunate ones get to see such far away places as Egypt, Africa, Japan, and the Scandinavian countries. Even for those who stay in Germany, a short train trip can take one to such places as Garmisch, the winter wonderland, Old Rothenburg, or the famous castles along the Rhine.

Many long hours can also be spent right around Frankfurt visiting the Römer Platz, the Kaiser's summer palace, or the Goethe House.

HEIDELBERG

PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS
OF THE CLASS OF 1951
HEIDELBERG AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL

HISTORY OF OUR SCHOOL

Heidelberg High School started on October 20, 1946, in the New University Building of Heidelberg University. Although the modern equipment made for a perfect school, the number of students soon outgrew it, and the next year classes were held at the Bunsen Schule across the river.

The Bunsen Schule was built with funds donated by Robert Bunsen, inventor of the Bunsen burner. The building was, and still is a teacher's college, only one wing of it is used for the dependents' school. The first year all classes were held in this building, but as enrollment increased, more and more classes have been moved across the street to the elementary building. Now only the seventh through the twelfth grades are in the original building.

In 1948, the school was given the name of George W. Orford Dependents' School in memoriam to Mr. Orford, former director of administration and personnel of the Dependents' School Division.

In the five years that Heidelberg High has existed, there have been only two principals. The first was Miss Baxter, who left after one year. Miss Linck came in 1947 and has ably supervised the social and scholastic life of the school since then.

CLASSES

SENIORS

CLASS HISTORY

The class of 1951 started four years ago in the "new" building on Quincestrasse. It was the second freshmen class to attend Heidelberg High. In the course of the year we had three class advisers: Mr. Hawks, Mrs. Shriever, and Miss Mallernee. The class president was Jean Dudley. The high spots of the year were our initiation, the freshman dance in honor of the football team, and a trip to Kronberg Castle with the seniors. There are only two people left who began their freshman year at Heidelberg: Jean Vores and Nancy Williams; Vicki Bouldin and James Lollis came later that same year. Paula Harithas, Nancy Penz, and Sally Lewis have been in Germany since their eighth grade year, but have not been in Heidelberg all through high school.

In our sophomore year our adviser was Miss Mary Jean Bowe, and our president was Ronald Short. We had a sophomore dance. Both that year and the year before, we were the largest class in the school. Thirteen sophomores of that year are still in Heidelberg. It was, however, a very interesting year, ending with a water fight with the Juniors near Neckarsteinach. It was easy to tell the sophomores and juniors from the seniors at the graduation the next night. A day on the Neckar in the broiling sun had left us all so sunburned we could hardly move.

Our junior year we were known as the most money conscious class the school had ever seen. Under Mrs. Rosen, our Miss Bowe of the year before, we held the first cake raffle in the school, gave a very successful carnival, and sponsored the first dinner-dance Prom. Our class became so large that the homeroom had to be split, and Mr. Sargent took over half of it. After all the excitement about the Prom, we were too exhausted even to think about having a picnic at the end of the year.

Now that we have become grand and glorious seniors, we have Mrs. Rosen and Mr. Brown as advisers. Jim McManaway is our president; Carl Young, vice-president; Joanne Hardick, secretary; and James Lollis, treasurer. The student council representatives are Nancy Penz and Patsy Piper. Besides a thorough initiation of the freshmen, we gave a very successful Christmas Formal.

Each year the graduating class is the largest to ever come from Heidelberg, and this year is no exception. Our school has come a long way since 1947, when only eight seniors graduated. Senior privileges came through again; we are always first in the lunch line, and have the first three rows of seats in the assemblies, although the seventh grade boys usually seem disposed to give us a hard time. We are all looking forward to Senior Skip Day and the annual Rhine trip - and particularly to graduation.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

In the fall when we returned to the familiar surroundings of H. H. S., only a handful of our former classmates were there to help welcome the newcomers. However, we all felt more at home when we learned that the junior homeroom teachers were to be Miss Keefe and Miss Gregory, our friends from the previous year.

Although it took a little time to get acquainted, the class is now well organized under the direction of Morgan Mayson, president; Marylou Bernard, vice-president; Marion Lee, secretary; and Paul Hayne, treasurer. Already the class has sponsored many activities such as the Sadie Hawkins Dance, cake raffles, and a White Elephant sale. Of course, the highlight of the year will be the Junior-Senior Prom to which everyone is looking forward.

Outstanding among the juniors are Marion Lee, Robert Bacher, and Vera Lee Virant, who have represented our class on the honor roll for the last two years. We are also very proud of our many lettermen who have been outstanding all over EUCOM for their athletic prowess. In a lighter vein, we might mention a possible world revolutionist, Fred Jacobs, whose booming voice reaches out to every corner of the building. For the latest gossip, we go to Joan Muschamp, who flits like a busy bee from aisle to aisle.

All of our last year's sophomores can recall the gay time they had at the Valentine Party. The year's activities wound up with a never-to-be-forgotten water soaking on the Neckar River and a picnic among castle ruins.

We have had many good times together and the class of '52 is looking forward to even brighter days as seniors.

The sophomore class of 1950 was the largest in the high school this year. Its total enrollment of sixty-five comprised a very vital part of Heidelberg High. On any morning of the school year, you might find Mr. Lohela and Mr. Bauer, our class of 1953 wardens, sitting in their respective homerooms. Their little wards are gathered around listening with avid curiosity to the daily bulletin. That is to say, most of them are gathered around; the rest are pursuing their various interests with great enthusiasm. In one corner we have Hubert Robie and Red Hutchison flexing their muscles, while at the other end of the room, Margie Stephens mumbles cheers while learning her geometry. Soon the bell rings, though, and all are off to their classes, to begin another day of torture for their teachers.

Early in the year the sophomores voted for class officers. Those elected were president, Eliot Vestner; vice-president, Walter Morgan; secretary, Barbara Adams; and treasurer, Sari De Juhasz. Student council representatives were Bob Moore, Sari De Juhasz, and Andy Johnson.

The sophomores were well represented in all sports. Lettering on the eleven-man team were Bill Henning, Bob Moore, Walter Morgan, Raymond Radcliffe, Gross Jenison, and Graham Stokes. Making up most of the six-man team were Larry Burchell, Chuck Cunningham, Al Howard, Red Hutchison, Andy Johnson, Gene Livensparger, Phil Roberts, and John Winters, all of whom received a letter for their efforts. Six sophomores contributed their talents to the basketball team. They were Eliot Vestner, Bill Roosma, Dick Walker, Larry Burchell, Walter Morgan, and Gary Roosma. The sophomores were also very proud of their cute little cheerleader, the aforementioned Margie Stephens. And with a "Rah, rah, rah" for our class, I guess we'll be running along.

For most of us, high school was a new experience. The first day was spent making friends with the many new students and getting reacquainted with the old ones. As soon as our schedules were filled out, we wandered around trying to find our classes. Finally we were settled and knew our way around enough to find the library, where we elected class officers. They turned out to be Gay Burkett, president; Gardner Piper, vice-president; Virginia Snetzer, secretary-treasurer. Our student council representatives are Karen Henke and Frank Chilton.

Due to the large number of freshmen, we had to divide up into two homerooms. The teachers of these two rooms are Mrs. Watson and Miss Lathim.

Frosh Initiation came all too soon (we wish it never had). The girls appeared in dresses above their knees, combat boots, and twenty-five pigtailed; the boys wore short pants, onion necklaces, and carrot corsages. Besides these costumes, we were required to learn a so-called poem, "The Rats' Creed", and to obey the mighty senior's every command. We all doubted if we could survive a day of this, but we somehow managed to live through it.

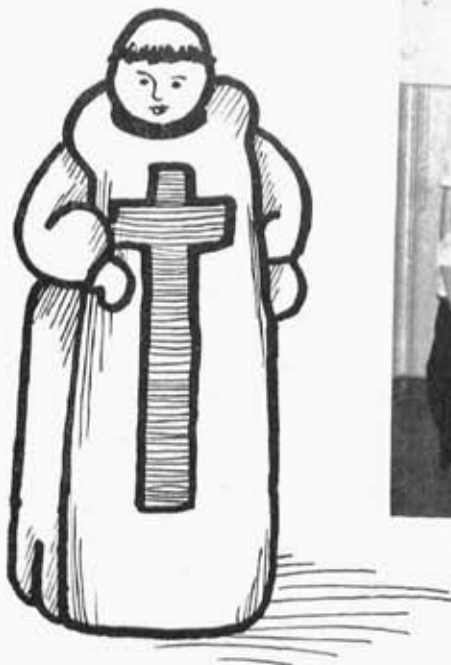

In November we had our freshman "Hard Times" party. Girls came in gunny-sacks, and the boys appeared in ragged shirts and patched levis. Alden Purpura and Carolyn Coughlan won the prizes for the best costumes, and Virginia Snetzer and Bill Wod were judged the best dancers. Everyone had a wonderful time.

Our newly formed basketball team played their first game in Stuttgart on December 16, 1950, and lost by a rather lop-sided score. Their popular coach is our algebra teacher, Mr. Lohela. We have also elected five mighty cute cheerleaders: Barbara Brayman, Jo Ann Burbidge, Jean Clower, Dacia Custer, and Virginia Snetzer.

In the Citizenship Essay Contest, sponsored by the Dad's Club of Heidelberg, freshmen won three of the four prizes. Anne Bachman placed first, Juanita Easterly third, and Carolyn Coughlan fourth.

Let's keep up the good work!

The Heidelberg Lions, defending champions of the 1949 EUCOM football title, opened this season in a big way by handing the Nurnberg Tigers a 27-6 defeat. The magnificent backfield work of Bob Springer, fullback, and Bob Young, quarterback, along with the brilliant line work of guard Mike Clower and John Stewart, tackle, made the Nurnberg contingent unable to make any headway.

The following week, the Heidelberg eleven met the Mustangs of Munich, and were forced to drop a 24-9 heartbreaker. Hard fought all the way, the Pony boys had old man fate on their side. Injuries took their toll along the way, and when the final gun sounded, we found ourselves on the short end of the score.

Taking the loss in their stride, the home town boys presented the Linz eleven with a 27-6 setback on their own field. Spirited, though badly under strength, the Linz pigskinners put up a commendable fight. Jim Skelly, who up to this time had played quarterback from the sidelines, took over the controls in the second half, and piloted the boys to the final tally.

Back on the home field once again, the Heidelberg squad played host to the Frankfurt Invaders. Mired down in a sea of mud, the two outfits kept the ball on the ground most of the time. Thanks to the deadly toe of Jim Radcliff, the boys kept the pigskin in Invader territory most of the afternoon. Late in the second half, bad luck and hard playing by Frankfurt dealt the home squad the losing card. A wide end play from our 20-yard line sent the Frankfurt club over for the only touchdown of the game.

Finishing third in the high school conference, the Lions nevertheless displayed a terrific amount of team spirit and sportsmanship. In spite of the numerous injuries and set backs, Coach Hagler did an admirable job.

SIX MAN FOOTBALL

Middle row: Joe Tisdell, John Hill, Dave Rogers, Herb Luttgens, Laurie Chittick, Bill Schilleter, Dick Chase, Gene Livensparger, and coach Arvo E. Lohela.

The Heidelberg six-man team may not have had the best record for the season, but it certainly showed an unbreakable spirit. Heidelberg had a much better team than their 0-3-1 record showed as, time and time again, with the score-board against them, they came back to fight all the harder.

The season opened with a defeat at the hands of a more experienced Berlin team, followed a week later by a valiant, but losing battle against the champion Wiesbaden six. The next game with Wiesbaden, played in a pool of mud, is one that Heidelberg prefers to forget.

Never losing their team spirit, Heidelberg finished the season by rising to unbelievable heights, outplaying highly favored Berlin in a game that ended in a 7-7 tie. Halfback John Winters had a truly great day. Pounding the Berlin line, he gained a total of 197 yards on the ground. To top it off, he scored the team's touchdown on an 11-yard line plunge.

Not to be forgotten were the performances of Reddy Kastner and Chuck Cunningham, the co-captains, along with Philip Roberts, Charles Hutchison, and Bill Schilleter on the defense. In there to keep the ball moving on the offense were Bud Howard, Joe Tisdell, Larry Burchell, Bill Duryea, and Dick Chase. It was truly a season to remember.

The Heidelberg hoopmen, deciding to restore the Lion's place in the EUCOM sport picture, started off by trouncing a hopeful Nurnberg quintet 68-49 on the Tiger's home floor. Right forward, Morgan Mayson, set the pace for the home team, and wound up high point man with 28 markers. In spite of this explosive start, the next week the Heidelberg five suffered an 82-59 setback at the hands of an experienced Wiesbaden squad.

As hosts of the Frankfurt Invaders, the Lions definitely established themselves among the champs by handing the highly favored five a 46-43 defeat. Once more, supported by Larry Burchell at center and Bob Hess at right guard, the spark plug of the Lion offensive was provided by Morgan Mayson. The boys from Frankfurt tried again to overpower the Lions at a home contest, and almost did so. With a minute and a half to go, Jim Skelly scored a lay-up and evened things up at 50-50. In a five minute overtime, the Invaders found themselves smothered under a 60-51 rally.

The boys from Wiesbaden met the Heidelberg contingent the next day, and came near to following in the footsteps of their disillusioned rivals. It was a bitter defeat for the home team as the final tally read Heidelberg 42; Wiesbaden 43.

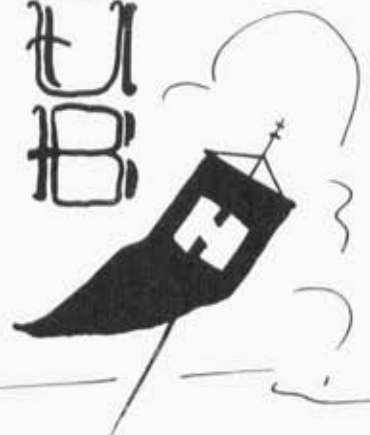

Getting back on the band wagon, the Lions chalked off a breather when the Berlin Bears attempted to steal the show at a home game. The third stringers put in a few points as the Bears went down under a 74-38 onslaught.

With six more games remaining to be played, the chances are that the Heidelberg hoopsters will take top honors when they put in their appearance at the all-zone tournament in March.

This year the Heidelberg Student Council has faced and solved many problems. Great credit is due to the wise selection of officers by the students. We have Jim McManaway, president; Nancy Penz, vice-president; Patsy Piper, secretary; and Gay Burkett, treasurer. They have been responsible for several activities that have pleased both the students and the faculty.

The council's proudest achievement is the sponsoring of the first Student Council Conference in EUCOM. The purpose of this meeting was to exchange ideas and discuss current Student Council problems. Delegates from the entire zone attended this all-day meeting. One outstanding feature of this conference was a vocational assembly at which a nurse, a lawyer, an engineer, and a C.I.D. official discussed their respective professions.

Two of the most enjoyable activities sponsored by the council were a musical and the campaign to raise money for the March of Dimes. Other accomplishments were the sale of season tickets for the games, the supervision of the halls and cafeteria, and the assignment of student lockers.

Each year the program of the student council has been more successful. At present the members are revising the constitution and making constructive suggestions for those who will take over next year.

The "Students Prints" was first organized in 1947, under the sponsorship of Mr. John Carlson. Each class suggested a name for the paper and "Student Prints" submitted by the seniors received the most votes from the student body. The first editor was Jane Simmons.

In 1948, Miss Mary Gregory took over the sponsorship of the paper, and in that year the co-editors were Mary Ellis and John Farmer. In 1949, the editors were Ann Houghton and Bonnie Walker.

The major change in 1950 has been in the format, with the addition of a comic strip and original art work. The typing classes under Miss Lathim have taken over the stencils, and the paper is mimeographed. The appearance has become more attractive, thanks to Miss Fredericksen's art students, and the printing is more legible.

Besides the regular editorial, news, and sports pages, the "Student Prints" features articles reporting on the personal experiences and trips of many Heidelberg students.

The "Student Prints" sponsored a Christmas theme contest, and the material submitted was printed in the Christmas issue of the paper.

We expect many more changes for the better this year and the usual high standards of writing under our editors, Paula Harithas and Joanne Hardick.

When the plans for the present annual arrived in Heidelberg, six students were chosen by the faculty to become the nucleus of the staff. These students were: James Lollis, Editor-in-Chief; Frederic Brown, Literary Editor; Edward Sexauer, Art Editor; Jack Carson, School Life Editor; Marion Lee, Classes Editor; and Ella May Smith, Business Manager. To assist us in ironing out the rough spots, we were aided by our faculty advisers: Mr. Brown, Miss Fredericksen, Mrs. Rosen and Miss Keefe. We would like to take this opportunity to thank them for their generous donations of time and effort during the formation of the annual. We also wish to extend our thanks to the many students who assisted us in the production of the annual.

GIRLS DORM

We were strolling down Quindkestrasse when we came to number 37, trembling on its foundation. The noise attracted our attention, and we decided to investigate. It was discovered that this haven was the girl's dorm with representatives from Stuttgart, Karlsruhe, and Baden-Baden. We were enthusiastically welcomed because they were getting ready for studyhall, and any possible further interruption was appreciated. This was such an interesting place that we wanted to find out more about it; here are the answers to some of the questions:

The dorm has increased from seventeen girls in 1948-1949 to almost thirty this year. The oldest survivor seems to be Nancy Williams with four years to her credit.

There have been three changes in supervisors this year. Miss Hendricksen, fondly called "Marmee" from last year, began the first semester, but during the fall she took a vacation which resulted in a return to the States. Miss McGinty substituted for a few weeks, and our present supervisor is Mrs. Ervin from Nürnberg.

Naturally this is a well behaved group of girls, but it's only human to go astray once in a while. In case someone does, she is turned over to the council, composed of the officers and four counselors appointed by the officers.

The girls' motto in everything seems to be "share and share alike". In spite of a little "short sheeting", cold dunking, and false alarms, everyone enjoys it immensely. They have tried and succeeded in making this pleasant house a second home.

BOY'S DORM

The sixth day of September, 1950, began like any other day, but by nightfall, the little town of Heidelberg had become victim of one of the worst disasters in the entire history of the world. Yes, as you probably already guessed, the members of the Boy's Dorm had landed. At approximately 0900 hours, advance elements were already pushing through the outskirts of the town. By 1900 hours the town was secured and the situation was well in hand. Dazed members of the population picked themselves up off the streets and worried "Friseurs" hung their trade marks higher, if they still had them to hang.

The dorm's population is composed of boys from Stuttgart and Karlsruhe. We started the year off right by electing as our officers Al Cunningham, president; Chick Schick, vice-president; Mike Clower, secretary; and Bill Katsarsky, treasurer. These four gentlemen formed our executive board and have the power to meet out the punishment to any of the offenders of the dorm rules and regulations. We have a basketball team of sorts, which at least tries hard, even if it isn't very successful.

Mr. Coyne, who was replaced by Mr. Guss right after Christmas, was a light sleeper, as was soon discovered by some few persons who were startled by the sudden appearance of a man attired in blue with a powerful flashlight in his hand and saying, "All right, what's the story?"

No matter what else the dorm is, it is never dull. If a person feels like "goofing off", he can always throw somebody in the showers, get into one of the inevitable card games (canasta, of course), or join a "bull" session where the talk will swing, sooner or later, to the subject of women. These discussions all boil down to one thought, "They are all fickle but one, and she is darned indifferent".

HEIDELBERG TEEN AGE CLUB

The Heidelberg Teen Age Club has been the gathering place for teenagers since February, 1949. This year, more than ever, we have gotten into the swing of things with parties and dances galore.

A new constitution was drawn up in September, and new officers were elected. Carl Young, president; Jim McManaway, vice-president; Mary Lou Kastner, secretary; Stan Wittmaack, treasurer; Dave Kendall and Bob Young, sergeants-at-arms; and our hostess, Miss Doris Wright, have really kept the place jumping! The Board of Governors includes Dottie Fischer, Anne Cooney, Joanne Hardick, Reddy Kastner, and Bill Henning.

The Club has sponsored several picnics, masquerades, contests, floor shows, and dances. A mother-daughter luncheon and fashion show, and a parent teen-age get-together were some of the highlights of this year.

Wednesday nights, for the benefit of the dorm students, there is a dance with a three piece band. This has also proved popular for the Heidelberg kids as well.

With new furniture and decorations, and the addition of a snack bar, we all feel mighty proud of our "Heidelberg Hangout".

MANNHEIM TEEN-AGE CLUB

The Mannheim Teen-Age Club, organized for the benefit of the Mannheim teenagers who live too far out to go to the Heidelberg Teen-Age Club, was formerly located in the Feudenheim Civic Center. In September of 1950, due to the increase in number of Mannheim teenagers, especially non-Feudenheimer's, the need for expanded quarters in a more centralized place was realized. Then the club was moved to its new location in Mannheim. This location is easily accessible and all the equipment necessary for a well run club is available.

The club, formerly under the capable direction of Mrs. Lawrence, has now been taken over by Mr. Hendric Van Joseph, who takes a very active interest in teen-age affairs. The officers are: Sonny Ferree, president; Hank Radcliffe, vice-president; Mitzi Knapp, secretary; and Dotty Shepherd, treasurer. The Club is open on Wednesday and Friday nights, and on Sunday afternoon.

In spite of the fact that the membership is limited, the Club sponsors many popular activities. These include dances and bingo games weekly, ping-pong and card tournaments frequently, joint parties and picnics with the Heidelberg Teen-Age Club, and many other forms of interesting entertainment. On top of this, refreshments are served at the parties, and candy and cokes may be purchased at any time.

All in all, the Mannheim Teen-Age Club is a credit to the Mannheim community spirit, and we hope that they will keep up the good work.

RIFLE CLUB

The Heidelberg Jr. N.R.A. Rifle Club was organized this year for the first time amid great hopes for its success. The club was made possible only by the cooperation of Heidelberg Military Post and our excellent coach, Major Butler. All of the necessities were secured for the operation of a fine club, including the services of Corporal Appleby and Sergeant Lopovsky, our assistant coaches. The club officers for the first year are: Stan Wittmaack, president; Ricky Brown, vice-president; Cob Bakken, secretary-treasurer; Jim McManaway, boy's executive officer; Shirley Valentine, girl's executive officer.

Both an indoor and an outdoor range have been prepared at the school, with a maximum of ten positions on the indoor and eight on the outdoor. This large number of positions facilitates firing and makes it possible for everyone to shoot more often. The club has been divided into fifteen groups, each responsible for a rifle, and the firing is done by groups. This assures a fair chance of shooting for everybody.

Since we are affiliated with the N.R.A., we are entitled to all of the rewards given out by the association as recognition of shooting ability, and there is naturally great competition among shooters for these awards. While the club may seem easy-going, there is one factor that is not forgotten, and that is the importance of safety. The safety regulations are never relaxed, and every shooter has to think at all times about the care necessary in shooting a rifle, for one mistake means expulsion from the club.

The Heidelberg Rod and Gun Club also deserves thanks for its assistance in getting the club on its feet, for they have supported us from the very first with every sort of aid.

We hope that the club members' appreciation for our sponsors will be shown by the winning of our first match.

SCHOOL HISTORY

On October 14, 1946, Munich American High School began its first year with 32 eager high school enrollees. Two privately owned German homes, located on Holzkirchner Strasse, served as the education center. The first faculty consisted of five, with Mr. Walter Glick, superintendent, and Mr. Rex L. Gleason, assistant superintendent.

Because of an increased attendance, the Dependents School Service was forced to look for a new location, found on 81 Rotbuchen Strasse, a wing of a former German school. The school was transferred on February 9, 1948.

In 1947 the enrollment increased from 96 to 130 with six faculty members. Mr. Howard Fearing was superintendent during the first semester, and Mr. Rex L. Gleason during the second.

In 1948 Munich High boasted of an enrollment of 159. Mr. James R. Pepper was the superintendent, and Mr. Rex L. Gleason, principal.

Munich's enrollment increased to 197 in 1949, and to 210 in 1950. During these years Mr. Herman Search has been the superintendent, and Mr. Rex L. Gleason, the principal.

Because of the larger growth in attendance, a new building was erected. Built next to the old one, it has the best stateside equipment. The school was moved to the new location during the Christmas holidays.

Senior History

As we look back on the many years gone by, we shall remember the class of "1951".

In the years of 1947—1948 the freshmen of Munich were, as usual, put through their paces. The class, consisting of sixty-one students, was well represented throughout the school. Kay Chermak, Louanna Norum, Karen Meador, and Don Flournoy were class officers, while Colin Thomas and Jacky Van Buskirk were representatives to the Student Council.

The sophomores of the year 1948—1949 started school with fifty-two students. Fred Brewer, Louana Norum, Laurie Cushing, and Lynn Norum, officers of the class, kept the students at a pretty fast step. Student Council representatives were Joseph Friske, Jacky Van Buskirk, and Richard Kirkman.

In the year 1949—50 the juniors did a great job in leading the school with gala parties and assemblies. Of the thirty-nine members of the class, six took part in the Student Council. The class, divided into two homerooms, had a double set of officers. In Mr. Verssen's homeroom Richard Kirkman was president; Fred Smith, vice-president; Charles Shaw, secretary; and Aurelie Jones, treasurer. In Miss Leamer's group Joe Friske was president; Tom Henderson, vice-president; Gladys Ann Berg, secretary; and Katherine Elkan, treasurer. Walter Graham, Nancy Campbell, Jacky Van Buskirk, and Joan Street were elected to the Student Council. The juniors also contributed a great deal to the annual and school paper.

Here we are at last - the year of 1951 - ready to graduate. Joseph Friske, president; Judy Phillips, vice-president; and Ruth Myers, secretary-treasurer, are to be congratulated for their leadership. For the first time in the history of Munich High School the major officers of the Student Council are all seniors. They are Charles Atchison, president; Walter Graham, vice-president; Jacky Van Buskirk, secretary; and Nancy Campbell, treasurer. The officers have done an excellent job of leading the school as well as the senior class.

We, the seniors of 1951, hope we have given our school memories of loyalty, respect, and dignity that will never be forgotten.

LAST WILL and TESTAMENT of SENIOR CLASS of 1951

Der Bayerischer Staat Stadt München

We the SENIOR CLASS of 1951 do hereby declare this to be our final will and testament.

As we depart, we leave the following cherished possessions to the Junior Class.

We leave our mascot, the lamb, in hopes the senior class of next year will be worthy of it and cherish it.

We leave our literature books (slightly used) to the would be English scholars, and, last but not least, our vim, vigor and ability to get things done.

To our hard working home room teacher, Miss Leamer, in appreciation for the many things she has done for us, we leave little halves of our split personalities.

To Mr. Gleason, our friend and principal, we will our knowledge to memorize poetry.

Marjorie Amos	I, Margie, will my wedding ring to anyone who wants to take that fatal step.
Charles Atchison	I, Chuck, will my quiet manner to "Korky" Kirkman.
Barbara Beiter	I, Barbara, will my job as reporter on the "Mustang Messenger" to Mary Dean.
Alicia Brower	I, Alicia, will my ability to my brothers, Jack and George.
John Conrader	I, John, will the privilege of being a senior two years to anyone who may need it.
Barbara Cushing	I, Barbara, will my excitable nature and enthusiastic outlook on life to anyone who may need it.
Laurie Cushing	I, Laurie, will Barbara to anyone who may want a twin.
Joe Friske	I, Joe, will all the swell times I've had in high school to my brother, Dave.
Hulda Graham	I, Hulda, will my big blue eyes to Pat Clay.
Walter Graham	I, Walter, will my chemistry and physics books to posterity.
Dixie Haines	I, Dixie, will Mr. James' long government tests to some unfortunate junior.
Steve Hamilton	I, Steve, will my ability to goof off in German class to Mary Myers.
John Ide	I, John, will my hair to Mr. Gleason.
Judy Phillips	I, Judy, will my Southern charm to anyone who happens to come from north of the Mason-Dixon line.
Aurelie Jones	I, Aurelie, will my dramatic ability to Elle Savage.
Dick Kirkman	I, Dick, will my football ability to John Bell.
Janice Landerdahl	I, Janice, will my ability to get along with girls to my brother, John.
Charles Lucero	I, Charles, will my dead eye.
Bob Marvin	I, Bob, will six inches of my height to Doug Pung.
Ruth Myers	I, Ruth, will all my passing grades to my sister, Mary.
Jacky Parrine	I, Jacky, will my ability to graduate from high school in three years to any student smart enough to do so.
Nancy Campbell	I, Nancy, will my place in the dorm to anyone who wants to meet a swell bunch of girls and have loads of fun.
James Ryan	I, James, will all my brains to Bill Wood.
Charles Shaw	I, Charles, will my slim figure to George Cleaver.
Bob Stepp	I, Bob, will my bright red shirt to Mary Lou Bright.
Lewis Stewart	I, Lewis, will everything I got for me for the next year.
Joan Streer	I, Joan, will my position on the "Mustang Messenger" and the Annual to anyone who can type.
Toni Miley	I, Toni, will my chair in chorus to Jean Cain.
Jacky Van Buskirk	I, Jacky, will not and never will.
Tamara Williams	I, Tamara, will my sophistication to the freshmen of next year.

A warm wind was blowing across Mt. Olympus. A group of the lesser deities were relaxing in the shadow of a craggy bluff. One of the Munich monks, Ponceforth, was the first to speak. "I haven't felt right since that wind began to blow. It is too much like the Föhn in Bavaria."

"More likely it's that big mess of Kartoffelbraten you ate", suggested Agonistes, the other Olympian from the Bayerisch capitol. "And speaking of our dear old Stadt, aren't we about due to make our inspection tour?"

"Inspection tour?" yawned Ponceforth hoping he wouldn't remember anything that would necessitate moving an inch of his overstuffed frame. "Yes, inspection tour!" said Agonistes a bit sharply. "You can't have forgotten our good friends from Rotbudenstrasse, the class of '51!"

We vowed we would look in on them wherever they might be all over the world every ten years."

"Indeed I do", said Ponceforth defensively.

"Well then, I'll stir me about. Anyway, it's time I lost a few pounds, and I certainly will try to find all those adventurers. Come! Come! Let us be off. Remember that before a new day dawns, we must return. Goodbye, my friend, and fare thee well."

Agonistes floated easily into space. An ocean was below him as he sped along. "Hm", he said to himself, "mountains below - part of the United States, I judge." As he descended earthward and toward a city, he could see that quite a crowd was gathered in one open space. Excitement was everywhere. Banners flew and Agonistes read signs saying, "Welcome - Dick - welcome back to earth!" With a surge downward his feet touched the ground, and the good monk walked again - a man among men. He was happy to see and finally to understand what was going on.

Dick, with his colleague, Bob Marvin, had been planning an expedition to the Moon for years. Now Dick had come back and was smiling and slapping Bob on the back. Bob had stayed behind because of his responsible position as co-owner and chief-pharmacist to Kirk-Marv Factories. He had, however, a great deal to do with the actual planning and achievement of the expedition. Satisfied at Bob and Dick's great fortune, Agi questioned them for news of some other members of the class so they proceeded to tell him all they knew.

Jacky Van Buskirk had finally reached her goal - to combine psychiatry and diplomacy. She psychoanalyzes the lower Mongols while carrying on foreign relations with their country. Working with Jacky in foreign relations was Nancy Campbell. Among her many other duties Nancy had organized a girls' school for the Mongols with dormitories run exactly like those that so impressed her in her Munich school days.

Nancy and Jacky had recently returned from a trip to New York City where they had attended the Met. There they had immediately recognized Janice Landerdahl as she sang the famous aria, "Schubplutler". Janice had become a great opera singer and was also happily married. The next appearance was Ruthie Myers, famous concert pianist. She was seated at her piano which was lacquered Chinese red, her favorite color. After the program, they said they had gone to the opening of a new night spot on Broadway, "Ryan's Roost", which was fashioned after one of the old Bavarian beer halls in Munich. There they were not surprised to find Jim Ryan, owner of the elite place, wreathed with smiles and welcoming back everyone with open arms.

Agi was surprised and pleased to hear of his old friends and immediately decided to look up Bob Stepp. Bob had made his million early in life and was taking life easy with his French wife and children. Bob met Agi, and as they took a taxi tour of Paris, Bob related more news about the girls of the class of '51. Judy, he had heard, was chief model and head buyer of clothes for a modernistic store owned by Hulda Graham. These two girls created some of the most startling fashions of the day. Hulda also did all the secretarial work to keep the complex records and files straight. The architect of the building was none other than Walter Graham. Little known as an architect, he seemed to have developed the ability overnight to do the job. He was said to have a keen and intelligent mind, and so like many geniuses, needed time to settle down. Agi was informed that Tamara Williams was running for the governorship of California and expected to be elected. Tamara had the ability; her goal was to be Secretary of State. Next Bob told Agi that Chuck Atchison was now a missionary to the Fiji islands. Chuck wrote in his last letter he had narrowly escaped being eaten alive by two of the natives he was trying to save. He had been rescued by the famous geologist, Lewis Stewart, who was collecting rock formations on the island. Saved from a fate worse than death, Chuck and Lewis sat down to talk. Chuck told Lewis he would never give up trying to save the natives.

Agonistes left Bob in Paris and began looking for Jackie Perrine. As he journeyed onward, he nearly got his wings clipped by a jet plane flying past him. Glancing inside, he gasped with surprise to see Joe Friske. Agi slipped through the window to talk to Joe and found that he was on his way to Geneva, Switzerland, where he was to take over his duties as President of the New United World Council. In his spare time Joe, a connoisseur of the classics, was translating Caesar and Cicero. Joe had news of Jackie Perrine. She was a successful actress and was opening her second musical in London after a successful run on Broadway. Jackie was donating her entire profits from her new play to charity.

Meanwhile, Ponceforth sped to Africa where he met Charles Shaw. Charles, still as fond of food as ever, took Ponci to a tropical restaurant much to their mutual delight. Here Ponci learned that Charles was an expert engineer, and in his spare time participated in his great hobby, hunting. From Charles, Ponci learned that quiet, Buddy Lucero was now quite a man about town and had recently been quoted as disapproving of bachelorhood. Until lately he had been a confirmed and cynical woman hater, but he had now stepped out socially and was enjoying himself. Ponci also learned news of John Ide while they splurged on a roasted elephant. This young man had become a book reviewer for a large chain of publishing houses. His ability to discuss and evaluate novels rewarded him with this position.

Before Ponci left Africa to continue on his sojourn, he visited another of the old Munich gang of '51, Aurelie Jones, alias Winkie. She told him she was spending a few weeks of a much needed vacation from her interesting work as a psychiatrist. She discussed the many children's books she had written to train children's minds along the right path. Winkie told Ponci of Joan Street's great fortune. Joan was now a universally known lawyer and was winning all her difficult cases. While she was studying for the bar exams, she wrote a historical novel about England, the idea for which she got during her travels in Europe. Winkie also spoke of Marjorie Amos who was still as happy as ever with her life time job of mother and wife.

Winkie seemed to have a store of information about her old classmates. She had heard that Dixie Haines, the class wit, was now a television comedian working over all the great networks. Dixie was known for her aptness in adlibbing, and every word that issued forth from her spirited lips was hilarious. Alicia Brower had become an efficient and extremely capable secretary. Many of the largest offices in the country would like to have her, but Alicia planned to stay where she was because she was to marry her handsome and intelligent boss. Barbara Beiter had become a teacher of nursing and was well liked by all her students. She recently developed a new method of caring for patients which was much publicized in all the national medical journals. Toni Miley, a commercial artist, was now in charge of the advertisements for some of the greatest stores in the nation. Our 6 foot, 4 inch, Steve Hamilton now led the kind of existence he loved. He was a general in the Army, and though his uniforms had to be custom made, he got along. His infectious laugh made him popular and won him many friends.

After taking fond farewell of Winkie and storing away all the news she had given him, Ponci made a quick flight to the Zugspitze where he found Laurie and Barbara Cushing. They had become international women ski racers and had won many of their runs. They were at the Zugspitze taking part in the last race of the season after which they planned to travel over Europe and do some painting and writing. As the twins and Ponceforth sat talking, much to his surprise, the monk saw Johnny Contrader, who was at the Zugspitze with his baseball team, the Cassanovas. He came over to talk and explained that as outfielder, he had been voted most valuable player of the year.

Leaving everyone, Ponceforth tiredly flapped his wings as he soared homeward, happy in the knowledge that his charges were doing well. He flopped down next to Agonistes and breathed a sigh of contentment that his day's work was finished. "Agonistes, old boy, how are your cherubs?"

Agi replied, "Wonderful! How about yours?"

"Couldn't be better", was Ponci's reply.

"'Bout dinner time", yawned Ponceforth as the two monks walked off together into the sunset. The class of '51 was successful to the last person. They had done their job well. As Time Marches On we must remember our wonderful friend and teacher, Mr. Gleason, who guided us through those memorable years in Munich.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Rathaus

The history of the class of '52 began with the enrollment of 50 freshmen in 1948. Eight of these - John Bell, Gordon Brower, Dave Friske, Alden Kirkman, Doris Lee, Bob Norby, Ronald Rackleff, and Eddie Wilkerson - are now juniors in Munich High.

Last year the class consisted of 60 sophomores divided into two homerooms with Miss Nave and Miss Brown as homeroom teachers.

By September 7, 1950, the class enrollment had dropped to 49 students who were again divided into two homerooms with the same two homeroom teachers. Each homeroom chose its own officers. John Bell and John Hare were elected presidents; JoAnn Godfrey and Bill Wood, vice-presidents; Leslie Foster and Pat Hopkinson, secretaries; Bob Norby and Don Hayes, treasurers; and JoAnn Godfrey and Peter Matson, reporters for the "Mustang Messenger". The class members chose Dave Friske and Doug Pung to represent them at Student Council meetings.

The junior class is justly proud of its boys who have added to Munich's glory in the field of sports. Dave Friske, Bill Wood, John French, John Hare, Pete Matson, and John Bell were all very active in this year's championship football team. Don Hayes was one of the cheerleaders, and he and five other junior boys were on the basketball squad.

Several juniors have contributed to this year's annual. Helen Taylor and Jinny Hadfield helped with the illustrations and Bill Ricker took many of the photographs.

The Sadie Hawkins Dance on November 15, sponsored by the juniors, was very successful as was the Junior-Senior Prom, which was enjoyed by all.

We juniors will always remember this year in Munich High with fond memories, and in looking forward to next year, we can only hope it will be as enjoyable and profitable.

SOPHOMORES

HISTORY

Munich High reopened its doors to the student body on the eighth of September, 1950. In all there were sixty-one sophomores, sixteen of whom are "dorm" students. The sophomore class is divided into two homerooms. Miss Howard and Mr. James are the homeroom councilors.

Class officers were elected in both homerooms. In Miss Howard's room the officers elected were: Frank Waskowicz, president; Beatrice Cook, vice-president; Barbara Sell, secretary-treasurer; Hubert Robie, Home Room Representative and Student Council; and Dorynne Patterson, newspaper reporter.

Class officers in Mr. James' homeroom are: Jerry Weedon, president and Student Council; Buddy Clark, vice-president; Marilyn Rosser, secretary-treasurer; Ronnie Painter, Homeroom Representative; and Virgil Peelman, newspaper reporter.

The sophomores have been well represented in sports and other school sponsored activities. A Valentine's Day Dance was given by the class.

We've all had a lot of fun as sophomores, but, as a freshman looks forward to becoming a sophomore, we look forward to the day when we will be juniors.

BOYS' DORMITORY

HISTORY

The original boys' dorm, located at 70 Gabriel Max Strasse, opened its doors way back in October 1946, under the supervision of Mr. Rex L. Gleason, our present principal. During the summer of 1948 the dorm was moved to 85 Harthäuser Strasse under the supervision of Mr. Joe Roe.

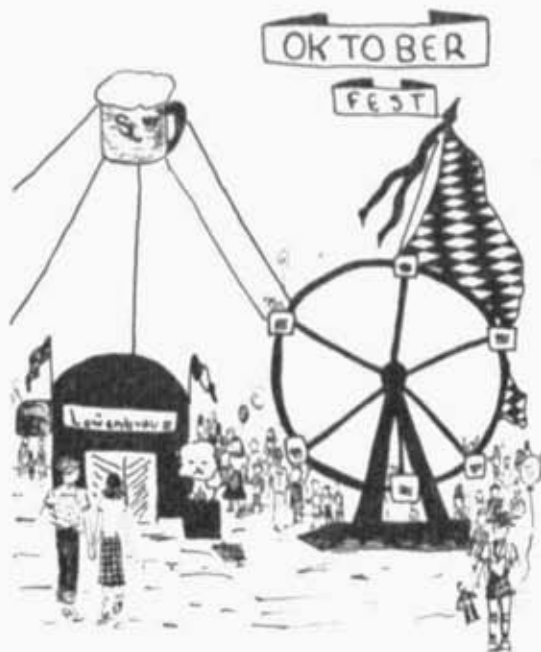

The following year, due to an ever increasing number of boys, we found ourselves with two dorm supervisors, Mr. William Nash and Mr. Ralph Bowen. Due to the overcrowded conditions in that dorm, the upper-classmen soon found themselves in a new dorm all their own. Mr. Bowen stayed at 85 Harthäuser Strasse, while Mr. Nash came to the new dorm at 16 Harthäuser Strasse.

At the opening of the present school term we found that we still had our same dorms, but we had two new supervisors. They were Mr. Charles Kitley, supervising the junior dorm, and Mr. Edward O. Hascall, supervising the senior dorm. They are both from Michigan.

Life in the junior dorm is normal, consisting of pillow fights nightly and an occasional water fight, but the pride of Munich lies in the senior dorm where an interesting experiment in self-government is taking place with much success. At the beginning of the year the members of the dorm elected as president Charles Atchison, who then appointed a social committee, judicial committee, and a scholarship committee to carry out the problems of the dorm.

The dorm has led a very active social life this year. So far, the boys have entertained at a swimming party, a hay ride, open houses, dances, and skating parties.

Because of the ever increasing population at Munich, the boys of the senior dorm gave up their old, "new" dorm and moved to a larger and better dorm at Faistenberg Strasse 2. With this bigger dorm the boys have been able to sponsor more and more activities for the students of Munich High.

FOOTBALL RECORD

This season, the Mustangs finally rose to the heights in their own little world of football. With all games to their credit, and none to their loss, the victorious squad looked over their shoulders at all contenders. The opening of the season found the possibilities of a championship team with a spirit that would be hard to equal. From the beginning the pass key to a position on the squad was "work" . . . and work it was, for every afternoon found us on the field driving for the perfection and physical conditioning a real team needs. The hours spent in skull practice, the eating, thinking, and sleeping football — all these and many more sacrifices contributed to our victorious season.

MUSTANGS IN ACTION

MUNICH 24 HEIDELBERG 9
Munich, led by their great Co-captains, Joe Friske and Dick Kirkman, earned a clean cut victory over the "Lions". A 78 yard touchdown run by John Bell on the Mustangs' third offensive play gave evidence of the outstanding scoring punch of the 1950-1951 Munich eleven.

MUNICH 45 NURNBERG 0
Traveling to Soldiers' Field, Nurnberg, Munich completely outmanned the "Tigers". Chuck Atkinson's scoring blast on Munich's first offensive play indicated the sharpness of the blocking of Munich's forward wall.

MUNICH 25 FRANKFURT 7
Outrunning a heavier Eagle squad, Munich showed its remarkable spirit and Bob Stepp and backed up by the defensive line, preserved Munich's spotless record.

MUNICH 49 LINZ 6
Munich won the EUCOM II man High School Football Championship as Hugh Rohie passed the Mustangs over their southern neighbors from Austria. Since a safe lead had been scored, everybody got into the big Dad's Day Game.

BASKETBALL

Coach A. L. Verssen's Munich Mustangs of the 1950—1951 basketball season are comprised of four of last year's lettermen — Captain Ed Wilkerson, John Bell (All Tournament A Division for 1950), Bob Stepp, and Don Hayes — and ten newcomers — Buzzy Bright (All Tournament B Division for 1950), Bob Marvin (All Tournament B Division second team for 1950), Claud Marvin, Ronnie Painter, Buddy Clark, Joe Faucette, Tom Hickman, Byron Burch, Gaylord Long, and Charlie Pickett.

Wilkerson, Bell, Bright, Hayes, Clark, and Stepp have born the brunt of the Mustangs' attack.

1950 BASEBALL CHAMPIONS

Munich High School's baseball nine won the 1950 High School Baseball Championship by playing through an undefeated season. Coach Algray Verssen's championship squad consisted of Kay Bell, first base; Paul Bannister, second base; John Bell, short stop; John French, third base; John Conrader, right field; Syd Stern, center field; Bob Hess, left field; Cary Warlick, pitcher; and Joe Friske, catcher. In winning Munich's first baseball crown these Mustangs won 3 out of 3 contests. Wiesbaden, 4 to 2, resulted in an eight inning thriller in which the Mustangs surged from behind to tie in the sixth and win in the eighth at Wiesbaden.

Nurnberg, 18 to 3, was a four and a half inning slug fest on the Mustang's diamond in which Munich collected 11 hits and stole 9 bases.

Frankfurt, 13 to 7, saw the Mustangs on their own field produce 13 runs on 8 hits, 5 walks, and 16 stolen bases.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET

The first track and field meet was held by the Dependents Schools, May 26, 1950, at Munich, in Stadt Stadium.

Although the scoring was unofficial, Coach Verssen's Munich speedsters edged their closest rivals, Wiesbaden, by eight points. The final score was Munich 38, Wiesbaden 29.

In the track events the Mustangs took first in the 400 meter run, which was won by Don Hayes, who set a new record of 53.6 seconds for Stadt Stadium. The Munich 400 meter relay team of Syd Stern, Jerry Weedon, J. P. Nielson, and Dick Kirkman also took a first place. Alden Kirkman racked up a first for Munich in the 800 meter run.

Mustangs who placed in other events to boost the score were Don Hayes, fourth in the 200 meter dash; Byron Burch, third in the mile run; and the last entry for Munich in the track events was the 1600 meter relay team which placed second.

Munich's wins in the field events were as follows:

John Bell and Hugh Robie took first and second, respectively, in the football throw.

Our lone contestant in the pole vault, Jack Trone, placed third.

J. P. Niegson and Dick Kirkman placed second and third, respectively, for the broad jump.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council began as an official function of Munich High School in 1946. It has been very active in supporting the student body and working with the faculty. The precedent of the Christmas Formal was established early in 1948. The Student Council provided for a recreation room, a monitor system, and assemblies given by each home-room. This year the council's officers are all seniors for the first time. These people have worked to make our school a better one.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

At the closing of the 1949—1950 school year, Munich High had the honor of becoming a charter member of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools. This society was established in 1921 to meet the demands of many school administrators throughout the country who were interested in recognizing similar characteristics in boys and girls in the secondary school level. Presently our school chapter, number 4116, consists of 6 members whose grades, contributions, and character, were outstanding during their past years in high school. The members—Joseph Friske, president; Ruth Myers, vice-president; Barbara Cushing, secretary-treasurer; Laurie Cushing; Joan Street; and Judy Phillips—are all excellent examples of the progress of American schools both at home and abroad.

The seniors opened the season by giving the K-Off Dance in the school auditorium, October 10, 1950, the Tuesday before our opening football game with Heidelberg.

After the dance, the seniors went to the Heidelberg game. The new jerseys of the players were tacked on the wall.

Soon the floor was covered with the new jerseys. The seniors were very happy to see everyone in the cheer leaders' uniforms as they cheered on to victory.

Munich Teenage Club

Located at 3 Gabriel Max Strasse, the Teen Age Club is the gathering place of all the Munich "teen" crowd. It originally opened its doors in the latter part of 1946 under the direction of Sgt. Lockmann. When he was sent back to the States in 1947, Sgt. Baker took over until 1948. Cpl. Richard Loewke, who took over the club in the middle of September, is now the director. Since Cpl. Loewke arrived, he has added much to our recreational facilities, such as a snack bar, hobby shop, and pool table. Most of the financial support comes from the recently organized "Dads' Club". This group also acts as the senior council of our club. The Munich Thrift Shop has donated a radio-phonograph combination replacing our juke box which wore out.

In October we held a contest to choose a new name for our club. "The Lo Coglers' Club" was chosen as the winner.

An election was held in November to choose new officers. They are: Robert Stepp, president; Don Hayes, vice-president; Aurelie Jones, secretary; Manuel Sousa, treasurer.

THE VOYÄGER

Published by the Students of Nürnberg High School

FOREWORD

A trip through Nürnberg has been chosen as the theme for the 1951 VOYAGER. The staff has attempted to give the students a series of photographs which will later recall memories of their stay here.

We hope, by including pictures of Nürnberg both before and after the war, to remind students of the untiring energy of the people of this city as they strive to rebuild their homes and traditional landmarks.

The annual staff wishes to express its deepest thanks to Herr Kriegbaum of the Nürnberg City Planning Office for supplying the photographs which made this theme possible. The staff also wishes to express its sincere thanks to the Signal Corps photographers of Nürnberg Military Post and Erlangen Sub-Post for their patient cooperation in helping us with our photographic work. The portraits and some group pictures were taken by Herr Albert Kohler.

Nürnberg American School

↑ HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL

Construction was begun on the large, three-story, brown stone building at 19 Tannen Strasse in 1906. Since then it has led a varied and interesting life. Originally a girl's school, 19 Tannen Strasse was drafted into service as a hospital during World War II. It was probably the now faded red cross painted on its roof that saved it from the ravaging bombs that wrought so much destruction in Nürnberg and Fürth. After the war our building continued as a hospital until 1947 when it was designated as the home of Nürnberg American Schools.

For five years now the sounds so familiar to American schools have echoed through its halls. But at last the end of its faithful service as an American school appears to be nearing an end. The Nürnberg Military Post Engineers have plans for the construction of a new, modern building, which will make school life more pleasant for those of us who will be here next September.

SENIOR GLASS HISTORY

"Well, I finally made it", was the main thought in everyone's mind when school began last September. The class of 1951 accepted responsibilities as seniors even before it had elected officers.

The class officers elected were Charles Hitselberger, president; Bill Eckert, vice-president; Bill Hartnett, secretary; Ralph Lurvey, treasurer; Ann O'Roark and Ronald Valimaki, Student Council representatives. Bill Hartnett left for Frankfurt and Jackie Surratt was elected secretary.

The senior class has had a busy year. The first project was to make the freshmen feel welcome. The class had a very thorough initiation, which was topped off by a dance at Stein Castle. There probably isn't a freshman in Nürnberg High School who will forget initiation.

There were twenty-three seniors at the beginning of the school year; one soon went to Frankfurt and three to the States. Four members have been students in Nürnberg High School since they were sophomores — Peter Paul, Reita Alexander, Ronald Valimaki and Roberta Philbrick.

The Senior class has been active in the social activities throughout the year and has furnished a large part of the manpower in sports.

CLASS PROPHECY

Nürnberg had certainly changed since way back in 1951. That's what we thought as we came back across the Atlantic in the year of 1961 for our Alumni reunion.

It was quite an occasion for two former school friends, one of whom was the noted journalist, Betty Fowler, and the other, Diane Russell, the wealthy secretary for one of the big radio stations in the States, to be accompanying each other back to their beloved old Nürnberg.

We decided to take a tour of the rehabilitated city for the sake of memories.

After going but two blocks, whom should we meet but Jackie Surratt, now a brilliant young doctor, escorted by that shrewd business manager, Floyd Brown.

As we passed the Palace of Justice, our eyes were attracted to a tall, mysterious figure spying eagerly for any suspicious footprints that might be about. As he slowly lifted his worried brow, we recognized him as the great detective and modern Sherlock Holmes, Ronald Valimaki.

Wandering over to the Military Post, we bumped into the two promising young recruits, Stanly Caldwell and Ralph Lurvey. They seemed quite excited over the possibility of receiving their Pfc. stripes after only eight years service in the Army.

As we strolled through the Fürther Krankenhaus, we noticed a number of familiar faces.

Our industrious Patsy McCarthy, as a laboratory technician, was busily making blood tests for her doctor and world famous surgeon, Bill Edkert.

Passing the polio ward we saw a little earnest physiotherapist, Bobbie Philbrick, attending some of her stricken patients.

Hearing screams from the other end of the hall, we rushed to the scene of smoke and confusion to find Chief Fireman Charlie Hitselberger taking his time rescuing three lovely nurses, Beverly Lyssaught, Sally Alexander, and Bernice Hearn. Later it was found that the fire was just the result of another misplaced cigarette of Charlie's. While window shopping back at Nürnberg in the Walled City, we met one of our most distinguished Alumni members, Elizabeth Hejno, who had torn herself away from her duties as U.N. Secretary to see her old friends again.

Further down the street, also indulging in window shopping, was the well-known advertising executive, Jim Savident, with his charming private secretary, Ann Bragan.

Art had paved a new career in Bob Gross's life and he was revealing his talent as he masterfully touched up old murals. He was being carefully observed and advised by one of the most outstanding engineers of all times, Jack Phillips.

Just as we were about to step across the way to the Grand Hotel for a snack, three familiar figures met our eyes. It seemed that Ann O'Roark, another successful journalist, was vainly trying to get John Partin, the walking encyclopedia and Professor of Political Science, to give his opinion of what he thought of that ever popular phrase, "If you want me big boy, just whistle, just pucker up and blow."

We noticed that that Peter Paul, United States Ambassador to Switzerland, was quite silent about the whole discussion, but his frantic effort to pucker up his lips in an attempt to whistle was more than obvious.

After we had finished eating our tasty dish of "Wiener Schnitzel", we wholeheartedly agreed that our graduating class of 1951 had contributed some of the most successful and well-known persons to the world; and that our class was truly a versatile one.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Three years ago, a group of frightened students entered N. H. S. dreading the events that happen to all freshmen. Now, with only a few of the original students from this group left, we stand our ground as mighty juniors.

After school had really started this year, the class elected their class officers and student council representatives, who were president, Charles Pickett; vice-president, Norma Emde; secretary, Pauline Worthington; and treasurer, Earl Sweeney, who was later replaced by Alfred Benavides. Student Council representatives were Norma Emde and Alfred Benavides. Charles Pickett moved away and Norma Emde replaced him as president. Carl Peterson was elected the new vice-president.

The junior class was well represented in all athletics. Four of the cheerleaders in N. H. S. were from the junior class. They were Alta Minthorn, Beattie Owens, Norma Emde, and Pauline Worthington.

Mr. Warren Robbins was sponsor the first semester, and Miss Vivian Howes, the second semester.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

The sophomores began the year by electing class officers, who were Bob Isett, president; Carolyn Norman, vice-president; Mary Hitselberger, secretary; and Thomas Joyce, treasurer. Carolyn, vice-president, moved to Garmisch, and her place was taken by Bill Killough. Student council representatives were Nancy Varney and Art Mace.

At the beginning of the year, the class enrollment was thirty-five; but before long, six pupils moved away. However, new students came in.

The class was well represented in every activity with ten on the football team and seven on the basketball team.

The sophomores sponsored the Sadie Hawkins Dance and the Spring Dance.

The sponsor was Miss Hermine Shekerjian, from San Francisco, California. She attended Stanford University and teaches geometry and algebra.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

Freshmen will remember when they began their first year of high school on September 3, 1950.

Their first exciting experience was the initiation, with those clever little costumes they wore so proudly. The girls in their short, short skirts, bows, socks, and pigtails were so sophisticated. The boys were dashing in their short pants, jackets, and shirts worn inside out, portraying the "man of distinction". The climax of this memorable occasion came when they so gracefully sauntered down the aisle of the auditorium on their hands and knees singing an aria from the Opera of the Old West, yes, "Mule Train!" They can also reminisce over the dance the upper classmen gave them at Stein Castle to end the initiation.

Not many will forget the Christmas formal at the Stork Club, sponsored by the freshmen. The girls were sensational in their Christmas formals with the boys in their smart Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes, shining faces and best manners.

Freshmen sponsors were Miss Lucile Rack and Mr. Bill Zeffiro. Miss Rack and Mr. Zeffiro both arrived in Germany in August of 1950. Miss Rack is from Santa Rosa, Texas, and Mr. Zeffiro is from Pittsburg, Pennsylvania.

There were 38 members of the class.

THE GIRLS' DORMITORY

This year has really been an historical one for the Nürnberg Girls' Dormitory. The dormitory has been completely redecorated, and supplied with new furniture and rugs. The new look was a wonderful surprise to the old girls as well as to the new ones.

The redecoration of the dorm was somewhat overshadowed, however, by the fact that about forty girls turned up for the beginning of school. That night the house on Dr. Mack Strasse was really bursting at the seams. Everyone took it in good spirits, though, and there was not a girl left without a bed. The first few weeks were a strain on everyone, for there were as many as ten girls to a room, but everyone seemed to be good-natured and all remained friends.

Then suddenly girls started leaving and we lost eight of our good friends. After Thanksgiving vacation the freshmen girls got a new dorm of their own just across the street.

The biggest change of the year, however, came when we lost Mrs. Ailee Ervin, our dorm mother, to Heidelberg. Our new dorm mother is Miss Claire McGinty. Mrs. Charles W. Britton, mother of one of our dorm girls, was temporary supervisor for the freshmen dorm, but Miss Laural Careth is now the permanent dorm mother.

BOYS' DORMITORY

Twenty-seven boys, ranging in size from "Tiger" Bob Burchell to Ronald Valimaki, make their home for ten months of the year in the yellow stucco Boys' Dormitory at 39 Dr. Mack Strasse, Fürth, Bavaria. During the intervals between the uproars caused by exploding firecrackers and that weapon of friendly warfare, the waterbomb, the dorm finds time to conduct itself in an entertaining, business-like manner. Mr. Chandler Hicks, supervisor, a University of Connecticut graduate, although a novice at his job has gained the respect of all as a "regular fella" with his just policies and square judgments.

The thoroughly efficient Council includes Ralph Lurvey, president; Ronald Valimaki, vice-president; Bob Isett, secretary-treasurer; and Floyd Brown, social chairman. Under the guidance of this group, the boys have engineered several successful socials and maintained dorm discipline.

The Dorm likewise has been a pot of gold for Mr. Bill Zeffiro in his search for athletic talent. It has placed seven men on the football starting "eleven" and provided four-fifths of the starting basketball team. Counselor of the second semester was Mr. Thomas Linton.

Members of the Student council:

Seated: Mr. John Charlson, adviser; David Peterson, Dulaney O'Roark, Alfred Benavides, treasurer; Ann O'Roark, president
Norman Emde, Art Mace
Standing are: Ronald Valimaki and Nancy Varney

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, sponsored by Mr. John E. Charlson, has consisted of two representatives from each of the four upper grades. The officers were Ann O'Roark, president, and Alfred Benavides, secretary-treasurer.

The Student Council sponsored the football banquet in January, held a student-government day, planned the social activities and the assemblies for each month, and solved many minor problems.

It was a very successful year for the Student Council and much progress has been made toward better student-teacher cooperation for everyone's benefit. The Student Council conference held in Heidelberg was a big step towards improvement of the program of the Student Council.

DIE KRIEGER

PUBLISHED BY THE CLASS OF 1951, GENERAL H. H. ARNOLD HIGH SCHOOL
WIESBADEN, GERMANY

SCHOOL HISTORY

The Wiesbaden Landstrasse School opened in October, 1946, as a school for Allied dependents of the elementary level. The large building was formerly a German public school for boys between the ages of six to fourteen.

At the beginning of 1948, Wiesbaden dependents of high school age, who had heretofore attended Frankfurt High School, moved into their own school, since facilities were now provided to accomodate grades nine through twelve.

The student body of the year 1949-1950 very appropriately chose to re-name their high school the General H. H. Arnold High School as a tribute to the famous Air Force leader, the late General "Hap" Arnold. Since the date of its opening in 1948, Wiesbaden High School has had a steady increase in enrollment. The number of students now stands at eighty-one, as compared with fifty at the opening date. To meet the need for more space, especially in the elementary grades, a new wing was added to the school building during the summer months of 1950.

In equipment and in the educational, athletics, and social programs, many improvements have been made during these years. The students receive a well-balanced education from an able teaching staff.

In November of 1950 the student body and faculty of the Wiesbaden School bade a regretful farewell to Miss Jane Ritter, their competent High school principal for the past two years. Miss Ritter, who left to accept a teaching position in Paris, was ably replaced by Mr. Carl Ahee, a recent newcomer to Dependents' Schools.

Like their predecessors, the members of the class of 1951 feel that they have benefitted greatly from their senior year in Germany. They sincerely hope that those who follow them will also take advantage of the rare and wonderful opportunities open to American high school students overseas. With this thought in mind, we chose "The Rhine" as our theme, not only because it has been a token of enduring tradition for the German people, but also because it has come to mean to us a special landmark of beauty and lasting memories. The old and beautiful historic castles and towns located along this river we shall leave, but we will cherish our memories of them for the rest of our lives. The Rhine will be a symbol for us of our crossing into a new life in which we, as adults, hope to demonstrate to the people of other countries the democratic way of living.

SENIORS

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

As graduation draws near our thoughts go back over our high school experiences. Our pasts are many and different. We have been drawn together by fate and we have learned to know each other, although our acquaintance is short. As we look back over this year, we remember the first day. For us seniors it was not only the beginning of a new school year but also the end of our high school life. All our years in high school have been happy ones. What will this year have in store for us? We have all looked forward to our senior year and now we have obtained our goal!

We were ably represented through our elections for class and student council officers. Our class officers: president, Bobby Barrett; vice-president, Susan Sheehan; secretary, Wini McCarthy; treasurer, Marlene Miller and class reporter, Jane Dodson, did their best to make this a wonderful senior year. Rudd Crawford was president of the Student Council and completely filled the job. Wini McCarthy, Jack Craig, and Jane Dodson were cheerleaders from the senior class. Our annual, edited by Rudd Crawford, and Gerald Olson will always bring back fond memories. All the activities of school life — games, assemblies, elections, and dances — will never be forgotten, for they make up the spirit of Wiesbaden High.

We owe many thanks to Mr. Craig, our home-room advisor and Mr. Ahee, our principal, who helped us in many of our activities. We won't forget Miss Ritter either. She helped us a great deal before she left to teach in Paris. When we graduate, our lives will take different paths, but we will always look back upon our senior year with many happy recollections.

THE SENIOR CLASS

Senior Prophecy

Dear Mr. Craig,

I heard from a friend of mine that you had wondered what had happened to the class of '51. I thought you'd probably be very interested in knowing that when I had a couple of weeks off from my role of Annie Oakley in "Annie, Get Your Gun", I decided to look them up.

You have no doubt heard about the success Pam Gardner has made for herself playing Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet". Pam decided to help me in my search. She had just seen Wini McCarthy a couple of days ago. Wini is dancing the lead in "The Red Shoes". Jack Craig just won the figure skating championship in the 1956 Olympics. I wish I could have seen him.

Last night Pam and I went to that unusual new nightclub, "Barrett's Garrett", owned by Bobby Barrett and designed by the famous architect, Jerry Olson. While we were there Allan Fair, who has become a millionaire through turning old cars into hot rods, and Georgie Hopkins, who is singing the title role in the opera "Carmen", came in. They sat at our table and we watched the floor show. Jeanne Sharprin is the featured torch singer. After the floor show, who should walk in but Bob Utterback, T. V.'s "Sam Spade". While talking to Bob, I saw Lt. Rudd Crawford, who had just graduated from West Point. With him was Jim Sharp. Jim is the ace test pilot for jet planes. We talked about old times in Wiesbaden.

The next day we had lunch with Frank Bernheisel, now the editor of "Mechanics Illustrated", at Margie Cannon's wonderful restaurant "The Cannon Ball". Tom Johnson, top model for Pepsodent tooth paste, came in and ate with us. He had just seen Susie Sheehan. She is the head of the Women's Athletic Activities in Madison Square Gardens.

After leaving "The Cannon Ball", we decided to do some shopping. While in "Saks Fifth Avenue" we met Shirley Moe buying clothes for her two adorable little girls. Shirley and her husband have a lovely house in New York's suburbs. Pam and I were looking at some suits and we were pleasantly surprised to see Marlene Miller modeling them. She is also married, but models as a sideline.

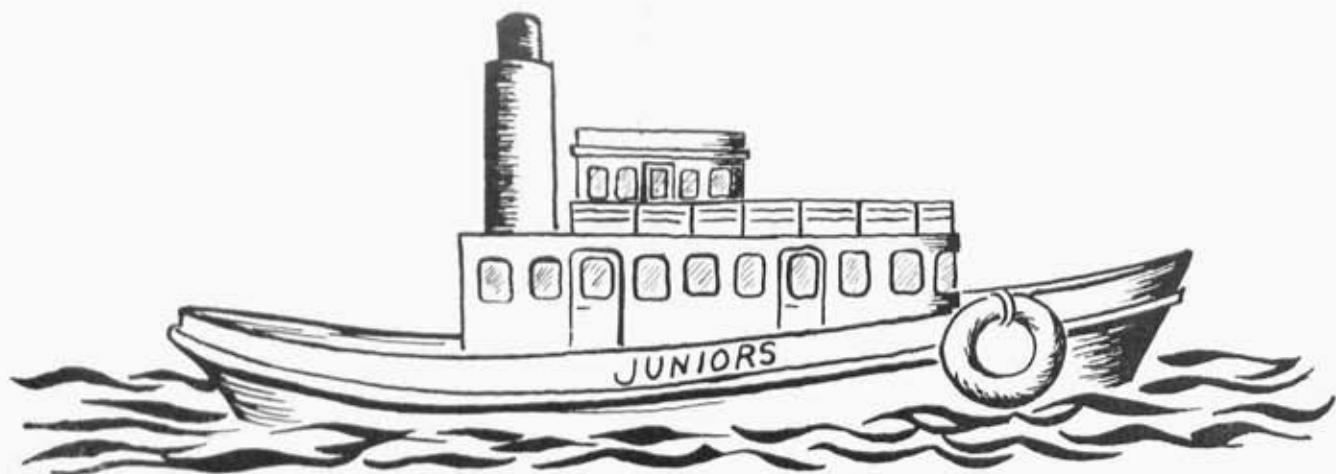

We left Saks and continued down the street. As we turned a corner we ran into Ruth Duhaime, who is starring on the "Hit Parade". She just got a letter from Joan McFadden, who is still in Wiesbaden waiting for Rudy to get out of the Air Force.

I must close now, so give my best to your family. I hope I'll see you on my tour.

Sincerely yours,

Janey Dodson

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

The junior class which has the distinction of being the smallest class in the school, consists of eight girls and five boys. After a democratic election in September, Pat Turner was elected president; Joan Manning, vice-president; Anita Williams, secretary; and Doris Moats, treasurer.

Despite our size we are well represented in school activities. Doug Monroe and M. L. Hernandez were lettermen on the football squad and Joe Denniston was the manager. Joe also manages the basketball team on which Jim Hockenberry, recently from Heidelberg, and Millard Lewis are members. Our pride and joy however, was the election of Anita Williams as Homecoming Queen, and Doris Moats as one of the attendants.

The junior class also shows its school spirit and leadership ability by holding offices in many of the school clubs. Joan Manning is vice-president of the Teen Age Club, vice-president of the Pep Club and secretary of the Glee Club. Joe Denniston is president of the Teen Age Club, vice-president of the Student Council and secretary of the Letterman's Club. Anita Williams is secretary of the Pep Club, and Sandra Garland was elected manager of the cheerleaders.

On the social side, the junior class has given only the Christmas party, but preparations are now in progress for the junior-senior prom, which we hope will be a big success. We, the juniors, enjoyed the school life of '50-'51 and look forward to an even happier and more successful year as seniors.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

This class first assembled on September 7th of 1950 in room 308 under Miss Rohr's supervision, but in a few weeks they were changed to Mrs. Phifer's rule. Under her kind guidance, the class has turned again and again to her with their troubles and accomplishments.

The class officers were elected soon after school began. They are all able in their respective posts. The president is John Mahoney, the vice-president is Dick Johnson, the secretary is Martha Dodson, and the treasurer is Muriel Wilson. Sandra Young represents the sophomores in Student Council, with Mary Dodson and Dick Kurtz as her alternates.

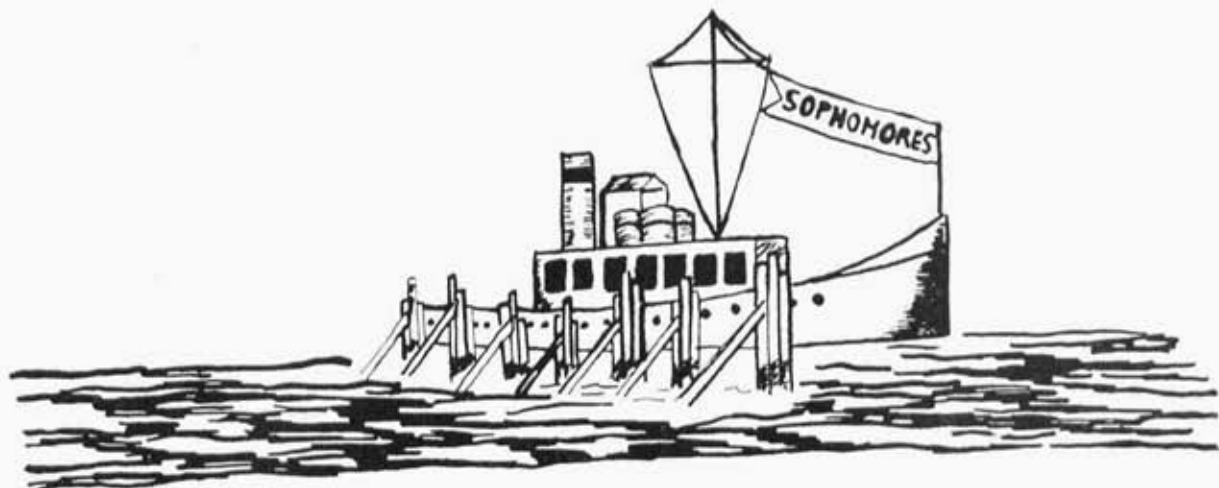

Two lovely blondes, Mary Dodson and Ellen Oxley, represent the cheerleaders from this class. Martha Dodson was the sophomore attendant to the queen at the Homecoming Dance. Sandra Young takes her place as secretary of the Student Council. Muriel Wilson is secretary to the Teen-Age Club.

The sophomores put out the General H. H. Arnold High School paper, "Smoke Signal". Martha Dodson is editor, and Nancy Barrett is assistant editor. The other members of the class contribute many fine articles and work together cooperatively.

Representatives on the gridiron for the Warriors this fall were Sophomores Tom Ballerino, Tom Moncrief, Dick Kurtz, Dick Johnson, Dean Jergenson, John Mahoney, and Skip Rawlings. Spence Uttely started out the year but due to a shoulder injury was unable to finish the season. Partially because of these boys, the Warriors took the six-man EUCOM football championship.

On the basketball courts, helping to raise the score, were Dean Jergenson, Dick Kurtz, Dick Johnson, Tom Moncrief, John Mahoney, and Skip Rawlings.

After a wonderful year at the outstanding Wiesbaden school, the sophomores sincerely hope to remain a part of it and spend their junior and senior years at the General H. H. Arnold High School.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

As 1950 rolled around, the freshman class found that they had a new English and typing teacher, Mrs. Dysart, as their sponsor.

We have twenty-five pupils in our class at the time this is written. Two of our members left, but three more came to take their places.

Every six weeks we elect new officers for our class. For the first six weeks our officers were: Mark Shipley, president; Val Hopkins, vice-president; Linda Fair, secretary; Barbara Brown, treasurer; Janie Upthegrove, Student Council representative, with Buster Robbins and Starlyn Keller as her alternates. Our class reporter is Howard Oxley.

We are proud to have some of the freshman boys on the football and basketball teams. David Bernheisel, Howard Oxley, Val Hopkins, and Bill Holoway are on the football team, while Buster Robbins is assistant manager. Val Hopkins, Buster Robbins, Mark Shipley, and Bill Holloway are on the basketball team. Although they don't get to play very often, when they do they really have what it takes! Then, of course, along with the teams we have our super cheerleaders. We think that of the six, the best one is a freshman, Elizabeth McAdams.

Of course, the year wouldn't have seemed normal if there hadn't been the initiation. One Tuesday morning, in marched the seniors, looking rather mysterious. However, we came through their hazing with flying colors and were off to a wonderful year at Wiesbaden High!

First row: Mrs. Dysart, adviser; Linda Gardner, Lorraine Duhaime, Chandler Robbins, William Holloway

JUNIOR HIGH ACTIVITIES

The 1950—51 school year was ushered in with the usual election responsibilities falling to the Junior High School students. Class officers were the first to be elected and the following students were finally chosen: president, Neil Marshall; vice-president, George Lewis; secretary and treasurer, Loretta Becker; Student Council representative, Phil Barrett; alternate representatives, May Beaton and Carl Mahoney; reporter, Pat Smith; assistants, Eddie Rapp and Dick Morgan.

The cheerleaders' honors were shared by one seventh grader and three eighth graders. Cheerleaders must cheer, and cheer they did for the Junior High basketball team. Dick Morgan captained the team and had the benefit of able assistance from his co-captains, Eddie Rapp and Earl Mahoney.

Speaking of cheers, we should give a really big one to the parents and to our teachers, Miss Roberts and Miss Dollard, who provided a Christmas party not soon to be forgotten by those who attended. Miss Roberts also rates a Rah, Rah, Rah for square dancing lessons enjoyed by all. The Christmas dance before the party was really fun and rounded out a wonderful Yuletide.

Mrs. Phifer was responsible for the Junior High musical and our hats are off to her, as well as all the cast, for plenty of hard work and a job well done.

In the travel department the Junior High took a back seat to none, with our many trips in and around Wiesbaden and occasional longer journeys. We felt we had an excellent opportunity to see and appreciate Germany.

The picnic that is still talked about in many circles, closed out the truly wonderful year. We all had a grand time — grand enough to look forward to next year at Wiesbaden.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION STUDENT COUNCILS

The Wiesbaden Student Council consists of one representative from each of the seventh through twelfth grades. The council is in good standing with the N.A.S.C. and attends the conferences held by the association. The council discusses and handles the problems of the student body, and makes suggestions concerning the conditions of the school. The Student Council, as a whole, speaks for the entire student body when problems arise which must be handled by the faculty.

FOOTBALL

The Wiesbaden six-man football team opened its season on the sixth of October with a game against Berlin played at Wiesbaden. The game was played on a dry field. With the support of the Wiesbaden fans, the Warriors won 26—0.

The second game was played at Heidelberg. The Warriors held the Lions down until the second half when they scored on a trick kick-off reverse. They were held to that; the Warriors came through to win 25—6. The following week Wiesbaden met Berlin again at Berlin. Much to the team's dismay, it snowed most of the night before the game; nevertheless, the game was played and at the half the Warriors led 13—0. In the second half, there were some minor injuries on both sides but the Warriors went on to win 26—0.

The last game was against Heidelberg and was played in Wiesbaden on a muddy field. Using the first and second string intermittently, the Warriors had a 19—0 lead at the half. A 52—0 victory assured the Warriors of winning the championship.

BASKETBALL

In the opening game against Frankfurt, played at Frankfurt, the Wiesbaden boys lost a heart breaker 49—48. Fair was high point man for the day with 21 points and Bob Utterback racked up 12.

The Warriors turned in two impressive victories in their second and third games by downing Heidelberg 82—59 and Nürnberg 61—26. The high scoring Heidelberg game was paced by Bob Barrett, Allan Fair and Tom Johnson who dropped in 28, 25, and 19 points respectively. The game was actually tied in the first half as Barrett and Fair, clicking together on the fast break, and Johnson's accurate shooting moved the Warriors into a 51—30 lead, a jolt from which the visitors never recovered.

The following day saw the Warriors coast to an easy win over Nürnberg. The regulars ran up a 36—18 half-time score and Coach Russ Stickney let the reserves take over. Fair and Barrett tossed in 19 and 15 respectively to take scoring honors.

The Warriors moved into second place in the EUCOM High School Basketball League on the strength of a double win over Nürnberg and Heidelberg. The golden quintet defeated Nürnberg 43—32 in Nürnberg and continued their winning ways the following day by holding off a late Heidelberg rally for a close 43—42 decision on the losers' home court.

Fast moving Bob Barrett, aided by clever passes from Allan Fair and Tom Johnson, provided most of the scoring punch for the Warriors in the Nürnberg game by dropping in 22 points. Near the end of the first half the Warriors suffered a severe blow when Tom Johnson sprained his ankle.

In the hard fought Heidelberg contest, Barrett and Fair hit for 19 and 12 points respectively, while Dean Jorgensen contributed 6 and Bob Utterback 5 points. Jim Sharp displayed an uncanny knack for controlling the defense rebounds and the entire team turned in a magnificent defensive performance in the face of superior height.

Now that we are leaving high school, we, the Seniors, feel that we would like to express our thanks to all of you who contributed so much to our school life. We wish to thank the Parent Teacher Association which has given so generously of its time and money, whenever we asked its help . . .

We wish to thank the School Board for all its efforts in our behalf . . .

The teacher, our principal, our superintendent, and school officer have ever been patient and understanding, and we appreciate all the skills and knowledge they have imparted to us . . .

We also wish to thank all those who have served us in various capacities, the art and English class for their splendid help on this annual.

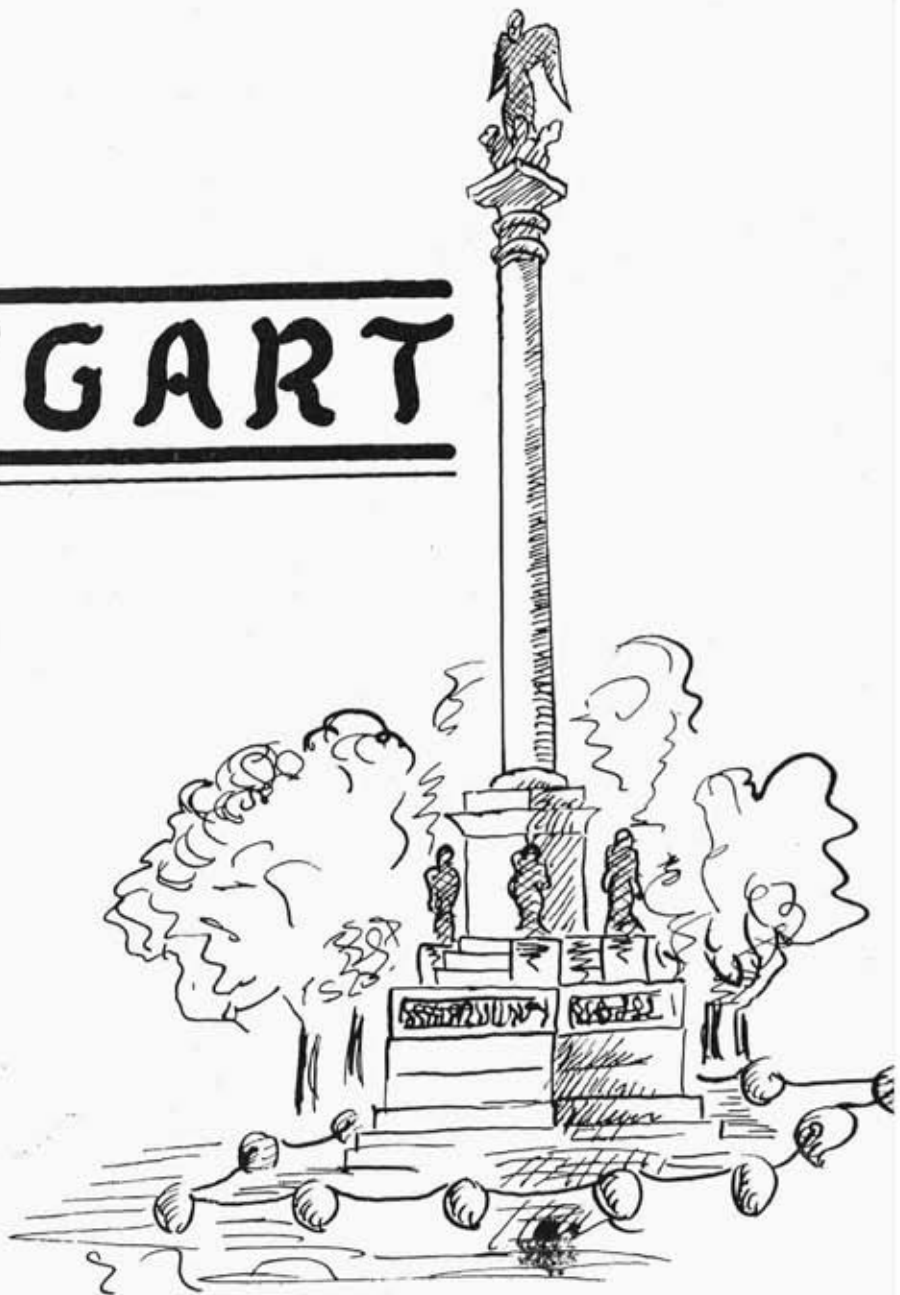

The school years spent here in Germany along the Rhine will continue to enrich our lives, just as the river that inspired our theme has enriched the lives of the people whose country we live in. We are grateful for our opportunities.

SCHOOL HISTORY

The American School in Stuttgart is one of the fastest-growing schools in EUCOM. Since its opening in 1946, it has progressed from fifty-four pupils and two teachers to four hundred and sixty students and a faculty of thirty, including eleven German assistants.

The year was highlighted by the opening of a separate section for the junior high school in a part of the building which was formerly used for storage and playrooms.

Our auditorium has had a face lifting in the form of a new stage and a paint job.

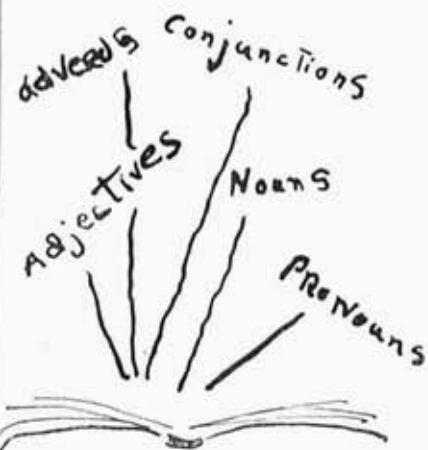

Many new activities were added to our program this year. Besides sports, we had the Press, Photography, Hobby, and Dramatics Clubs. We also enjoyed the Teen-agers Club which was started this year in Stuttgart.

A dancing class, held once a week, produced a crop of confident jitter bugs who would do credit to Arthur Murray himself.

Through the efforts of the PTA, two excellent record players and a wire recorder were secured for the school.

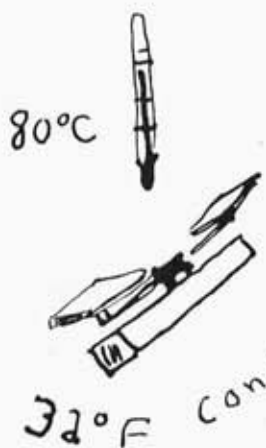

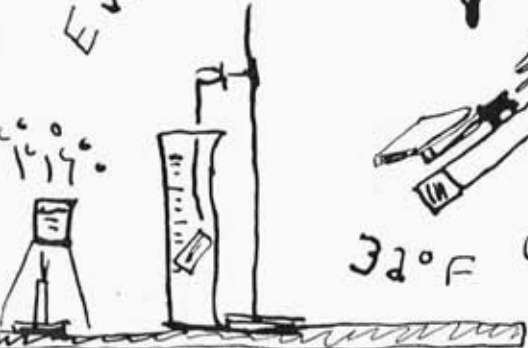

A film room and an assembly room for the junior high classes were other advantages we enjoyed this year.

NINTH GRADE HISTORY

Twenty-four students began the school year in Mr. Ferris' home room. Margaret Hart and Monte Vinson returned to the States in December, and John Mullett and Shirley Stern transferred to Munich. New additions during the year included Leo Calhoun, Helen Paul, Charles Harrison, Mike Coder, and Ludlow Adams.

Our class officers were Glenn Smith, president; Robert Dey, vice-president; Sylta Rasch, secretary; Joan Lawrence, treasurer; Bill Saunders, class representative.

During the year there were many social events, including a wiener roast, a Hallowe'en dance, and an initiation party where the poor seventh graders were the victims of our pranks.

In January our class spent a day at a machine factory in Esslingen where we visited the apprentice shops, foundries, and assembly buildings. A recording of our impressions of the trip was made and presented on AFN's "Operation Information".

EIGHTH GRADE HISTORY

The eighth grade, with only twenty-two pupils, had the distinction of being the smallest class in the junior high school this year. However, we have always believed good things come in small packages.

Shortly after school began we elected the following class officers: Bill Poe, president; John Standley, vice-president; John McInerney, secretary; Tom McInerney, Student Council representative.

Our cheerleaders were Betty Schneider, Jane Lewis, and Roberta Grant.

In November we lost Sonny Daniels, Patricia Fleming and Marsha Robinson, but equalized our loss by gaining Jerry Johnson, Frank Loggins, Jane Lewis, and Walter Schoonover. One of our class-mates, Jack Clymer, was lucky enough to have a vacation in the States. He left in August and returned in November, just in time to take over as center on our basketball team.

Our class sponsored the Hallowe'en party for the junior high. We had a spook house, games, dancing, and refreshments.

When the seventh graders were initiated, we looked on smugly, recalling last year when we were the unhappy victims.

We have enjoyed several educational field trips including a visit to the Amerika Haus and a trip to an exhibit of German glass products.

SEVENTH GRADE HISTORY

Miss Waring's seventh grade class began the school year with twenty-eight pupils, twenty of whom were boys. What a lucky break for the girls!

During the first month we lost Charles Wanat, Jerry White, and Anthony Fleming; but we gained Glenda and Beverly Stern, Karen and June Monteith. Clifford Brown, Elizabeth Jones, Gail Work, and Franklin Jordan. The class elected Richard McInerney, president; Kitty Curran, vice-president; William Jones, secretary; and Brian Hannon, treasurer. Kitty Curran and Bill Helm served as our representatives on the Student Council.

Luckily we survived initiation day when we had to come to school in outlandish attire and act as slaves to the ninth graders.

In September we served as ushers at an outdoor assembly where the teachers were introduced.

At Christmas time we had a room party and gift exchange, and then joined the other classes for a movie and Christmas party at the Crossroads Special Service Club.

We assisted the PTA in their project for collecting books for our library.

Among our field trips were excursions to Amerika Haus and the Landesgewerbe Museum.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The third annual conference of representatives of the staffs of Erinnerungen, the yearbook of the American High Schools in Germany, met at Frankfurt High School on February 2, 1951.

The discussion of literary and artistic problems was ably led by James Lollis of Heidelberg, who was elected chairman of the conference. Geraldine Parrino of Bremerhaven was recording secretary.

From the entries sent by each school, choices were made by vote on the dedication, farewell, end pages, and state distribution map. Problems of publication were discussed and recommendations for future conferences were made.

Mr. Clinton Nichols, representative from the headquarters of American Schools in Germany, commended the annual staff on their close cooperation and on the fine work they had done in preparing the 1951 yearbook.

After adjournment of the business meeting, the representatives of the various schools met the Frankfurt seniors who were to be their hosts and who entertained the visiting students at dinners and parties.

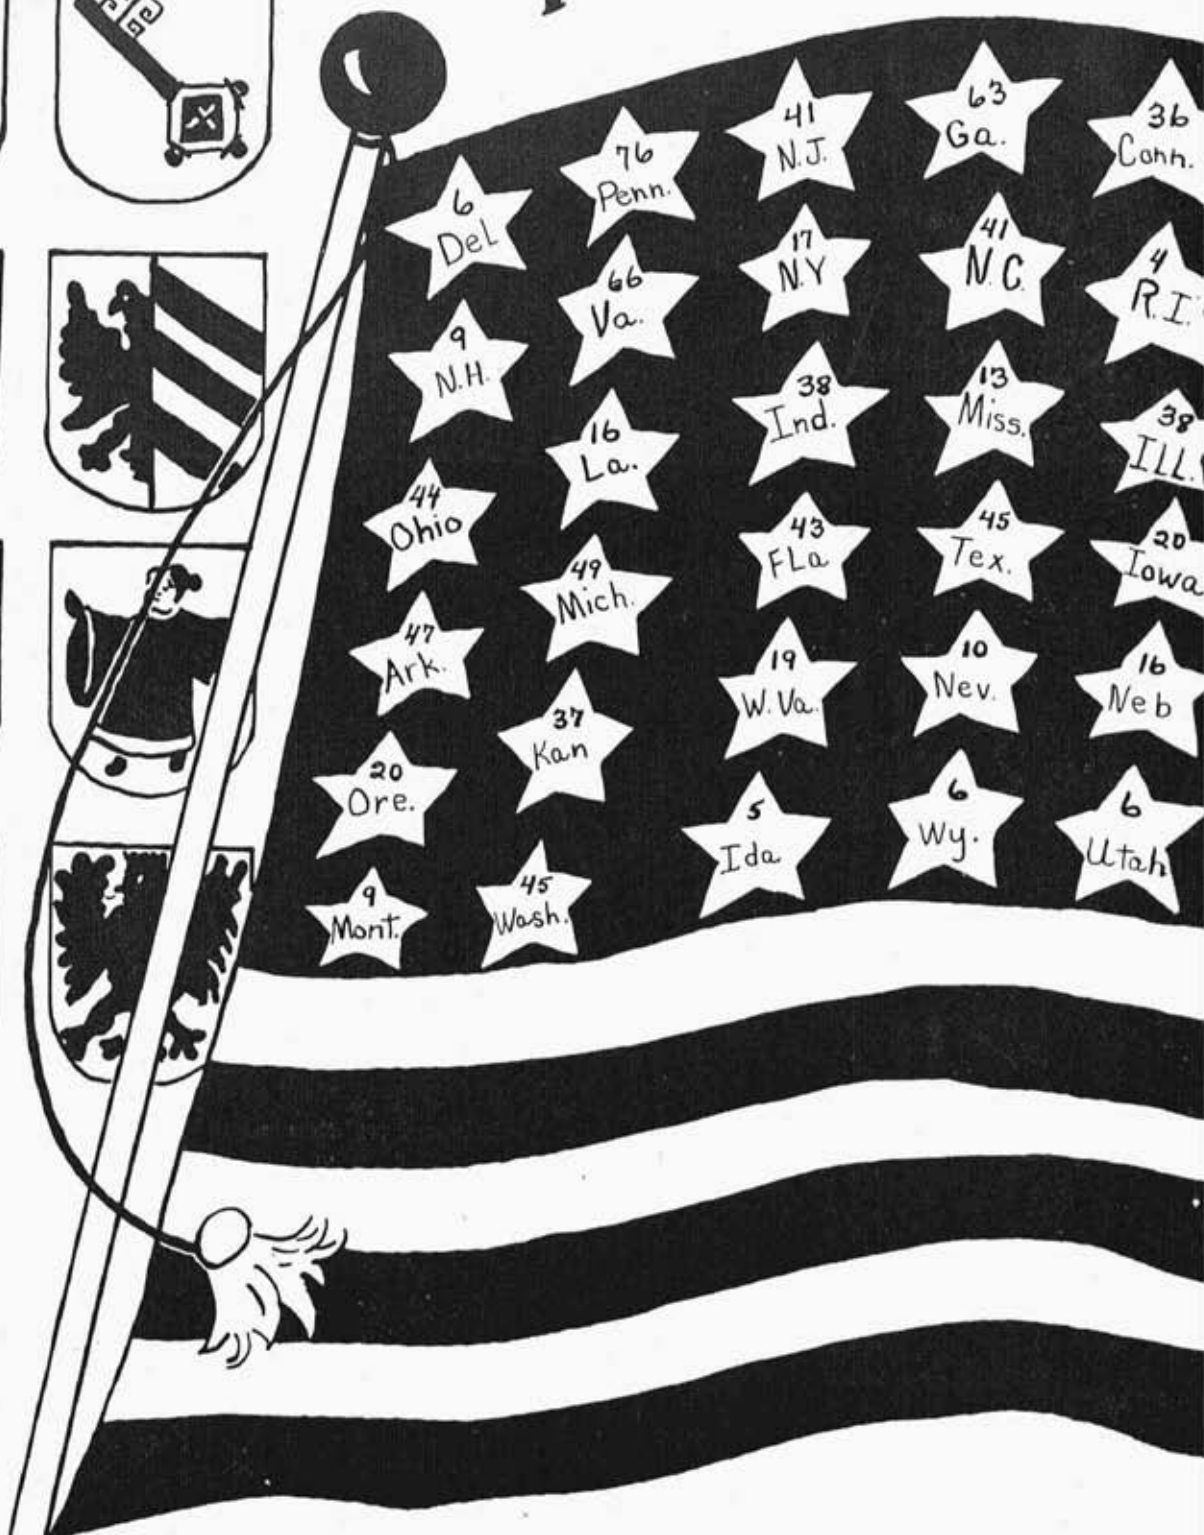

The conference was very successful and profitable, and all who attended agreed that the meeting was one of the highlights of their school year.

Representatives to the annual conference were:

THE AMERICAN DEPENDENTS SCHOOLS IN GERMANY

ENROLLMENT AND TEACHING STAFF

Elementary schools, kindergartens and high schools are established for the education of the children of American military and civilian personnel in Germany. In the current 1950-51 school year 60 elementary schools, 27 kindergartens and seven high schools are in operation. The location of these schools in Germany is shown on a map on page 335. Schools are staffed by teachers and administrators who have come to Germany from every section of the United States. All teachers and administrators were employed and processed through the Overseas Affairs Branch in Washington, D. C., after being interviewed in the States by representative staff personnel of the 7755 Dependents School Detachment. Supplementary teachers and all kindergarten teachers are selected from qualified dependents. On 31 December 1950 the total teaching staff consisted of 292 elementary teachers and teaching principals, 51 high school teachers, 12 full time superintendents and principals and 32 kindergarten teachers; the total pupil enrollment was 9173.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION

The American schools in Germany are under the direction of Colonel Russell F. Albert, Commanding Officer of the 7755 Dependents School Detachment. Mr. Fred L. Miller is Chief, Elementary School Branch and Mr. Richard R. Meyering is Chief, Secondary School Branch. Each branch chief is responsible for the construction of teachers' guides and courses of study, for the general organization and supervision of the curriculum content and for recommending personnel for specific teaching assignments. Additional supervisory responsibilities of personnel of the education branches include the audio-visual aids program, the music program, and the administration of the Calvert School Correspondence courses which are made available to children of school age living in isolated areas not served by established schools.

REGIONAL SUPERINTENDENTS

For convenience in administration the American Zone of Germany has been divided geographically into five regions. The schools of each region are under the general supervision of a regional superintendent. Regional offices are located in Frankfurt, Heidelberg, Karlsruhe, Munich and Nürnberg. Schools in Berlin, the Bremen Enclave and France are supervised from the Karlsruhe regional office. The duties of regional superintendents include frequent visits to the schools in their regions for the purpose of maintaining close contact with local school officers and visits installation commanders, school boards, principals and teachers.

MODERN SCHOOL FACILITIES

MARKED PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE IN IMPROVEMENTS OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Since the opening of the first American schools in Germany, marked progress has been made in the improvement of school buildings, classroom equipment and supplies, and in the selection and distribution of teaching materials. Many school buildings have been built which meet the standards of modern American school building construction. The safety and health of all children have been taken into account in both the construction and in the selection of the location of new school buildings. The distribution of school equipment and supplies, including books and all teaching materials, is the responsibility of Supply Branch of the 7755 Dependents School Detachment. General army practices and procedures are followed in matters related to procurement and distribution of supplies and to accountability for government property in the local schools.

AN ENRICHED PROGRAM OF STUDIES

THE SOCIAL STUDIES ARE MADE MORE REALISTIC BY UNUSUAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

All schools are provided with up to date curriculum materials and library facilities, as well as recreational and cultural opportunities. Carefully selected textbooks and workbook materials are furnished to pupils on all grade levels without cost to the pupils. Subject matter fields are enriched by the use of an abundance of supplementary materials including selected sound and silent films and filmstrips. In most German communities pupils have an opportunity to take excursions to well known lakes, rivers, mountains, museums, art galleries, old castles and to other famous land-marks. The study of history and geography is made more interesting and realistic by these unusual educational opportunities. Pupils who complete the work of a grade in an American school in Germany are prepared to enter the next advanced grade in any school in the States.

GERMAN LANGUAGE TAUGHT BY GERMAN TEACHERS

Every pupil in the American schools in Germany is given an opportunity to learn to speak German. Provision is made for a minimum of twenty minutes of German instruction daily in elementary grades and in high school German is offered as a regular elective subject. All German instruction is given by qualified German personnel who also serve the schools as assistant teachers, librarians and secretaries.

SPECIAL EMPHASIS ON HEALTH AND SAFETY EDUCATION

A health and safety education program is in operation in all schools. In many schools pupil safety patrols have been organized with the cooperation of military safety officers. Teachers' guides provide outlines for teaching procedures through textbook study and supplementary health education literature. Through the cooperation of the American Red Cross in Germany all teachers have been given a prescribed course in Accident Prevention. At the close of the school year all pupils in the upper grades who complete the prescribed school safety education study plan, receive a certificate of achievement which is awarded by the American Red Cross. School nurses are assigned to some of the larger schools and in the smaller schools a local nurse usually aids in school health activities. Medical officers of local installations assist in the administration of physical examinations and health care of pupils in school.

SCHOOL NURSES ADMINISTER FIRST AID AND MAKE DAILY HEALTH INSPECTIONS

IN MANY SCHOOLS PUPIL SAFETY PATROLS ARE ORGANIZED WITH THE COOPERATION OF MILITARY SAFETY OFFICERS

SCHOOL LIBRARIES

The staff librarian of the 7755 Dependents School Detachment works in close cooperation with all schools in providing appropriate books for children of all reading levels and in assisting German personnel and American teachers in the efficient operation of school libraries. An allowance of about four dollars per pupil is made annually for the purchase of library books. The smaller elementary schools have access to traveling library book kits, each made up of one hundred selected titles, covering all grade levels. These book kits are rotated once within a nine weeks school period. Recently published professional books are provided for teachers. Children's magazines and current news materials come periodically to each school.

SCHOOL LIBRARIES PROVIDE GOOD READING FOR CHILDREN OF ALL GRADE LEVELS

A HOT NOON LUNCH

PUPILS ARE PROVIDED WITH A HOT NOON LUNCH

Pupils are provided with a hot noon lunch by the local installations at a minimum cost. The work of preparing and serving the lunch is done by German personnel. Pupil participation in the program is optional, but in most schools both elementary and high school pupils participate one hundred percent in the noon lunch.

ATHLETICS AND PLAYGROUND ACTIVITIES

School playgrounds are equipped with playground apparatus including swings, slides, high bars and teeter-totters. Most playgrounds are also equipped with basketball and volleyball courts. In many schools playrooms and gymnasiums are made available to both elementary and high school pupils. Playground and playroom supervision is regarded as a regular duty of American teachers and German personnel. In many schools regularly established physical education classes are conducted for both boys and girls on all grade levels. Athletic sports, particularly football, basketball, and baseball, are carried on in high schools and in the larger elementary schools. Both high school and elementary school basketball tournaments are conducted at the close of the basketball season.

TRANSPORTATION AND DORMITORY FACILITIES

School buses provided by the local military installation furnish transportation to and from school for children living too far from school to walk. These buses are driven by experienced German drivers and each bus is chaperoned by an adult. Dormitories are operated at Frankfurt, Heidelberg, Munich and Nuremberg for high school students who do not live within daily traveling distance. Normally dormitories are open from Sunday evening until Friday evening when transportation is provided to return the students to their homes for the week-end.
