

SPECK TATING

By John Williamson

IT WAS NO SURPRISE that the Special Troops Battalion of USAREUR-Seventh Army Troops — better known as the Heidelberg Celtics — easily walked away with the honors in the USAREUR battalion-level basketball championships at Berlin last week.

Even those observers who might not have gotten the word from this column were convinced after the first day of action in the Sports Center gymnasium. The Celtics took the floor for the sixth and last game of the day and soundly thrashed the 3rd Admin Co — which won the company-level tournament at Wuerzburg and was a surprise last-minute entry at Berlin as the 3rd Div representative.

It was apparent then, after having seen most of the other teams play earlier, that the Celtics would prevail. With this settled, the interest revolved around which team would get to challenge them in the final game, and this turned into a real donnybrook.

THE 14TH S&S BN of Seventh Army Support Command, after they fell back into the losers bracket with an 86-76 loss to the Spartans from 1st Bn, 36th Inf, of 3rd Armd Div, did not appear to be the team that would make it. True they had whipped the Berlin entry on Monday and the SETAF five on Tuesday, but it was the opinion of most people present that, if the 2nd Bn, 13th Inf, 40 Rounds of 8th Div didn't get them on Thursday, the Spartans would easily repeat their Wednesday win.

But the 14th wouldn't say die. They survived a morning game against the Iron Horsemen of the 4th Bn, 35th Armor, out of 4th Armd Div on Thursday and then came back strong that night to take the 40 Rounds by 12 points.

Friday morning's return match between the 14th and the Spartans was easily the most exciting game of the tournament. Playing without Charles Rudd — probably the outstanding individual performer in the meet — for the most of the first half, and with a badly hampered Rudd in the second half, the S&S crew just out-hustled the taller Spartans to the overtime win.

Hostile Crowd

THE CROWD — with the exception of a half a dozen people from Heidelberg — was unanimously with them for the final game but the outcome was not doubted by many. After all they had played three tough games in the preceding 36 hours while the Celtics hadn't been on the floor for almost 48. And then there was Rudd limping badly with a big bandage on his injured leg.

That the Celtics showed no mercy in the final game is understandable. They had brought the best team to the tournament, had won their previous three games easily and with the plentiful use of their not too potent bench. Yet every time they took the floor they were greeted with resounding disapproval by all the fans that happened to be in the Sports Center at the time. It was a case of "now we'll show you what we really can do." It was unfortunate that it had to happen to the dead game, dog-tired, badly crippled 14th that had proved it was at least second best.

IF THE HEAVILY LOADED Kaiserslautern squad that arrived in Berlin the Sunday before the tournament to represent Com Z had been allowed to compete things might not have been so simple for the Celtics. I only had a quick glimpse at the roster but I recognized enough names to know it was a team that would have, at least, given the Heidelbergers a hard time.

But before the teams even met at 2 p.m. Sunday it had been determined that the team was ineligible as a battalion-level entry. It appears that the method used to combine several units into one battalion-size unit of not over 1,100 men was not one prescribed in the regulations.

This was probably a simple misinterpretation of the directive. Perhaps future directives can be a little more specific to make such misinterpretations unlikely. At any rate, it was a shame that the ballplayers — who surely weren't to blame for the foul up — should have made the trip ready to play and then have to go back home without touching a ball.

THERE WERE PLENTY of individual standouts in the tourney. I've mentioned Rudd, and surely John Shannon of the Celtics deserves recognition as does Rudd's teammate Bob Williams, Sam Key of the Spartans, J. C. Bingham of the 40 Rounds, and Bill Griffin of the Iron Horsemen, who tallied 41 points against Bingham's team for a tourney one-game high.

But the player that caught my eye was the Iron Horsemen's big, young center, John Thornton. Thornton averaged just over 30 points a game for the five contests his team appeared in and pulled down an average of just under 20 rebounds. Both figures were high for the tournament, but it is Thornton's potential more than his performance in Berlin that impressed me.

John has just turned 20 years of age, is somewhere between 6-foot-6 and 6-7 and apparently still growing. His only basketball experience before coming into the service was high school ball in his native Atlanta. He expects to return to Atlanta after service and play for one of the small colleges in that city.

Though his lack of experience is obvious, it is his natural moves that impress. He has none of the awkwardness usually associated with a big growing boy. His coordination and grace of movement are extraordinary for a youngster his size. A little real fine coaching and a maturing of his mental attitude could make him a great basketball player.

Cubs Nip Wolves In Overtime, 2-1, On Stingel's Goal

BERLIN (Special) — Mike Stingel's goal in overtime gave Berlin high a 2-1 victory over Wuerzburg here Saturday in a USDESEA Red Division contest.

The victory upped the Cubs' record to 2-0 while Wuerzburg has dropped both starts this season.

Stingel, who was assisted by Jim Wheeler in the tie-breaker, also got an assist on Berlin's first goal, scored by Herbie Black in the 15th minute. The score was 1-0 at the half.

Wuerzburg tied the score in the last 10 minutes as Ryan Salone scored for the Wolves. Singel's game-winner came in the fourth minute of the five-minute first overtime.

Wheeler played an outstanding game on both offense and defense for Berlin.

Douglas Martinez scored the only goal as Berlin's JVs edged the Wuerzburg juniors, 1-0, in the preliminary game.

NUERNBERG, Germany (Special) — Erwin Serino scored both goals as Nuernberg High edged Munich, 2-1, in the season opener for Jim Zuchetti's Eagle booters.

Serino broke a 1-1 tie 20 minutes into the second half, on passes from Ed Glover and Wayne Dewhirst. Serino's first score with five minutes gone in the opening half — on an assist from Greg Mounts — was balanced by Munich's Kasra Sarzanegan at the 28-minute mark.

In addition to Serino, the Eagle left forward, fullback Jay Mowery and halfback Baxter Frasier were outstanding for the winners while Sarzanegan, the Mustang right inside, sparked Munich, now 1-1.

Tate, Lakenheath Top Hadites in Dual Cinder Test

LAKENHEATH, England (Special) — John Tate captured four first places and started the Lakenheath Lancers' 800-meter relay team to a 1:32.4 clocking — the best USDESEA time of the year — as the Lancers outclassed the Hadites from Upper Heyford in a high school dual track meet here Saturday, 105-29.

Teammate Ranson Eddings turned in a sensational 10.5 in the 100 meters, one-tenth of a second under the existing USDESEA record, and also won the 200 meters in 23.9. Eddings' mark for the 100 will not be recognized as a USDESEA record as it was not set in a USDESEA regional or final meet.

Tate and Eddings teamed with Terry Nabors and Paul Cannon in the relay to come within 0.9 seconds of equaling the USDESEA mark of 1:31.5.

A 6-foot-2, 180-pound senior, Tate sailed over the 120-yard high hurdles in 18.2, captured the 180-yard low hurdles in 22.5, soared 37-11 in the triple jump and won the high jump with a leap of 5-4.

smoothness that was evident in all phases of the operation... The officiating was uniformly excellent as it should have been with such old pros as Ray Hudson, Ernie Blackshear, Bob Via (who said there were no more colorful officials around), Tom Leford, Dave Grey, George Huff and James Ross doing the whistle blowing.

Incidentally the officials had plenty of assistance from the stands in Berlin's Matt Hardeman who took a week's leave to be on hand for all the games and keep things straight. I have never heard more articulate heckling than the brand practiced by Matt even though he was handicapped with a sore throat for a couple of the games.

And last, but not least, my own personal thanks to Rick Hummel of the 8th Div information office who made it possible for me to be in about three places at once in covering the tournament.
